Fund Campaign Again Exceeds Collection Goal

Lockbourne Check Boosts Drive Total Over 100 Per Cent

For the fifth straight year the Pickaway County Community Fund has topped its established contributions goal.

The receipt today of an $800 check from Lockbourne Air Force Base personnel boosted final total collections to $22,497.50, more than $50 over the set 1961-62 campaign goal of $22,445. The fund campaign has gone over its goal every year since the 1957-58 drive.

James B. Carr, campaign chairman, lauded the "thousands of persons in Pickaway County who shared in this accomplishment by giving freely of their time, money and effort toward the success of this drive." He added the county could well be proud of its continued efforts to provide full funds for the operation of community service agencies dependent on the fund for financial support.

Of the collection the local Red Cross chapter will receive the largest amount during 1962, a total of $14,795. The Boy Scout movement is to be aided by a $4,500 grant and the youth center in Circleville will be given $4,050. A check for $3,900 goes to the Salvation Army and the Girl Scout program receives $3,400. The smallest pledge is for the well-child clinic which is to receive $1,800.

NO FUNDS collected in this year's drive will be expended on campaign costs. The payments to the six agencies will be made in quarterly disbursements, with the first mailing of checks taking place early in January.

Coordinating campaign activities with Carr was Earl W. Palm, vice chairman of the drive. Committee heads for the successful drive were: Industrial division; Leroy Slusser and Bob Johnson, business; Frank Bowling Jr. and Jack Alkire, county; Mrs. Kenneth Hannan, Mrs. Gene Barthelmas, Mrs. Walter Ehmling, Mrs. Roselyn Ecard, Mrs. Harriet Kahler, and Mrs. Henry Swope, residential; Richard David and Doug Corderman, special groups; Mrs. Howard White and Mrs. Lawrence Goelzer, advance gifts; Mrs. J. M. Hedges, materials; Dan Crabtree, training and publicity; Mrs. Robert L. Burton, headquarters; and Circleville Jaycees, outdoor publicity.

Dr. Robert L. Burton is president of the fund. Other officers are Mrs. Karl Mason, vice president, Ed G. Grigg, secretary, and Marvin Steeley, treasurer.

Teenagers Injured In One-Car Mishap

A teenage couple escaped serious injury at about 8 p. m. yesterday in a one-car mishap about seven miles west of Circleville on Route 22.

The driver, William E. Congrove, 18, Lowery Lane, and his passenger, Jacqueline Donahue, 15, of Kingston, was taken to Berger Hospital where emergency treatment was administered.

Congrove was treated for neck injuries and Miss Donahue was treated for lacerations of the face. State Patrolmen said that Congrove was attempting to pass another vehicle on the narrow highway when he lost control of his auto.

The 1961 model compact was nearly demolished. Patrolmen said, as it struck an embankment and flipped over on its top in the eastbound lane of traffic.

State Finance Panels Locked In Debates

Ohio Legislature Ponders Cash Status Of Government

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio General Assembly's finance committees are locked in debates over appropriations to operate the state government.

Formal consideration by either the House or Senate may not come until tonight.

Majority Republicans on the Senate Finance Committee have agreed to restore to the $40 million capital improvements bill $410,000 for a Cleveland state hospital project previously rejected.

Most action appeared to be in the House Finance Committee where tempers flared after Gov. Michael V. DiSalle questioned a witness Wednesday.

In an extraordinary appearance, DiSalle, after listening for some time to questions fired at his director of mental hygiene and correction, Dr. Robert Haines, walked from the audience and requested to ask some questions of his own.

Dr. Haines was appearing before the committee, headed by Rep. Ralph Fisher, R - Wayne, which is studying appropriations for the second year of the current biennium.

DiSalle, in his questioning of Haines, sought to show 1961-1962 appropriations for the department of mental hygiene and correction were nearly the same as for the previous year although Haines is operating 16 new facilities.

The governor also said the Republican-controlled legislature wrote into the proposed appropriation for the coming fiscal year a provision to allow borrowing funds from one biennium to meet the last payroll of the previous biennium.

DiSalle said: "This is an admission you want to restore $2 million in this biennium. The thing to do is meet it honestly and appropriate the money."

Fisher disagreed that the lan-

U.S. Ready To Lower Boom on Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department has drawn a bead on Communist party leaders as deadlines for registering with the government near.

The party has until Sunday to register with the department as an arm of the Soviet Union. If the party doesn't register, its officers must by Nov. 30.

Both deadlines are apt to be ignored by Communist party leaders, who have fought the issue in the courts since passage of the Subversive Activities Control Act of 1950, which prescribed the registrations. The Communists have vowed to go to jail rather than comply.

In the face of the defiance, Justice Department officials have begun mapping plans to prosecute. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy indicated in Dallas Wednesday the steps his department would take if the deadlines are ignored.

If the Communist leaders fail to register "as they have indicated," Kennedy told a meeting of the Associated Press Managing Editors convention, they will then be subject to a $10,000 fine and a five year imprisonment. We will also move in that area."

Both the party and its leaders are subject to a fine of up to $10,000 for each day of violation of the registration requirements. If the two deadlines are ignored there is a third: party members must file by Dec. 20. If they don't, they face the same fine.

Rembrandt Painting Sold for $2.3 Million

NEW YORK (AP) — Rembrandt's masterpiece "Aristotle Contemplating the Bust of Homer" shortly will go on exhibition at New York's Metropolitan Museum of Art, which Wednesday night bid it in for $2.3 million—the highest known price for a single painting.

The artist got 500 florins for it, the modern equivalent for that being $7,800.

New Blizzard Hits Southwest

New Mexico, Texas Get 3-Foot Snow

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bitter winds blew across miles of snow-covered countryside today behind the second storm to buffet New Mexico and Texas in three days. The new storm also hit Colorado, Oklahoma and Kansas.

As much as three feet of snow blanketed storm areas, which counted eight deaths from the wintry weather since Monday.

Blizzard conditions lingered on the eastern Colorado plains, closing U.S. Highway 160 west of Springfield and U.S. 40 between Kit Carson and Cheyenne Wells.

New snow thickened the icy coverlet in extreme northeast New Mexico and parts of the Texas and Oklahoma Panhandles, and spread eastward into Kansas.

Skies cleared early today in Texas and New Mexico areas. Snow continued in Oklahoma, where it blocked roads west of Boise City in the state's westernmost county.

Elsewhere in the storm sector, subfreezing temperatures left many highways glassy slick and hazardous.

Fresh snow measured a foot or more at some points, and considerable amounts remained from the preceding two days—up to 36 inches in the mountains of south central New Mexico, where there were 6-foot drifts.

More than 12 inches of new snow blanketed Trinidad in southern Colorado, and wind gusts hitting 50 miles per hour made auto travel risky along the eastern slope of the Rockies. An ice storm gripped Denver.

$2000 Wrist Watch Flushed into Sewer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Down the drain went Maureen M. Gray's $2,000 diamond-studded wrist watch.

She notified police Wednesday that she had placed the watch on the water tank in her bathroom. In reaching for—and pressing—the flushing lever, she accidentally brushed the watch into the bowl.

GOP Attorney Joins Dems In Trying To Draft DiSalle

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has said he does not plan to seek reelection next November but three Ohioans — including one Republican — have opened a drive to draft him.

The trio is Robert W. Reider, president - publisher of the Port Clinton Daily News; Richard Gugenheim of Cincinnati, vice president of the Shoe Corp. of America and chairman of the Ohio Civil Rights Commission; and Republican attorney Dale W. Stump of Columbus.

The men called for a statewide meeting of DiSalle backers the evening of Nov. 27 in Columbus.

All said they have had no contact with DiSalle, his family or any political figures in Washington. And they added they have no assurance that the governor would honor a draft move.

Reider, who is a former member of the Ohio House and was a candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination against DiSalle in 1958, said he is chairman of the group "just to get things going."

Ohio Collegian Joins Vigil at White House

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 20-year-old Iowa College junior from Allen County, Ohio, is a member of a group beginning a 72-hour vigil for peace in front of the White House today.

Larry Smucker, 20, of Bluffton is one of 14 Iowa College students who plan to walk back and forth in front of the White House carrying placards to identify themselves. They plan to take no solid nourishment, only water during the period.

They describe their aims as: "... We oppose atmospheric nuclear testing because of the dangers of radioactive fallout and because of its acceleration of the arms race."

"We condemn Russia for their test series and we support the President's reluctance to resume testing. We urge Russia and the United States to reach an agreement which will prevent further atmospheric testing as a move to reduce international tensions..."

Kennedy Leads U.S. Mourning For Mr. Sam

Party Lines Gone As Tributes Pour Out from Capital

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy led the nation today in mourning for Mr. Sam.

In a statement released after the chief executive, saddened by the death of House Speaker Sam Rayburn, had taken off on a trip to the West Coast, Kennedy said the nation "has lost a devoted servant and the citizens of this country an unflinching friend."

The presidential statement echoed sentiments voiced in an outpouring of sad tributes which began flowing from the Capitol immediately after the news came from Bonham, Tex., where the speaker died.

There were no party lines in the expressions of grief over the loss of the man known as "Mr. Democrat." The Republicans who fought him at every step in the chambers of Congress were as outspoken in sorrow as the most loyal political followers.

Two partners of the speaker in dealing with the nation's business — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana — effectively summed up for their legislative colleagues.

Johnson's office spoke for the vice president while Johnson himself was on the way to the airport for a Western trip — a journey which Johnson cancelled upon receipt of the news. The statement said:

"The Capitol is a lonely place without him and the good people of the world have lost a companion and an ally. He was always there when he was needed. His voice and his judgment were heard and respected. In the end (Continued on Page 2)

150 Ironton School Pupils Under Probe

IRONTON, Ohio (AP)—Charges are expected to be filed as the result of a formal police investigation into acts of vandalism and harassment against two Ironton High School teachers.

Police Capt. Gene Markel said 150 students may be involved. The teachers reportedly objected to a football pep rally and bonfire last Thursday night. The riotous activity began after the rally when students formed a car caravan, went to one teacher's home and shouted insults.

The city manager, school board, police and fire chief met Wednesday and decided to open a probe after hearing about these alleged incidents.

After driving to the first teacher's house, the caravan went to the second teacher's residence and threw things against the house, threw live firecrackers on the porch and tossed a dead cat through a window.

Friday night, rocks were thrown through the window at the first teacher's home, almost striking his wife.

Saturday night a fire bomb was thrown at his home. It landed on the porch but it was extinguished after a neighbor saw it hit. Later gasoline was poured around the garage but the teacher chased the perpetrators away when he spotted them doing it.

Pen Escape Try Brings Penalty

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Sentences of six months in segregation cells and removal of two years of their good behavior allowance were levied against two of the three convicts who attempted to escape from Ohio Penitentiary last Friday.

The third man, Arthur Frey, 31, is still in the prison hospital with injuries suffered when he fell 30 feet while climbing a wall during the escape attempt.

Wednesday's action by a three-man summary court in the prison was against Noel A. Morgan, 29, and Thomas Cartwright, 37.

All three men are serving sentences for armed robbery. Frey and Morgan were committed from Hamilton County in 1959 and Cartwright from Pickaway County in 1960.

Very Easy Death Takes Mr. Sam, Very Great Man

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL, BONHAM, Tex. (AP)—Sam Rayburn, who served longer as House speaker than any man, died today in the home town he loved.

Cancer and its complications caused his death. He would have been 80 on Jan. 6.

The White House was notified immediately. So was Rep. John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, the Democratic leader of the House.

McCormack was the man Rayburn chose to serve temporarily as speaker when "Mr. Sam" had to leave Congress before it closed because of what he called lumbago.

But even then, his doctor believes, he knew he had cancer.

The physician, Dr. Joe A. Risser, and members of the speaker's family and staff stood by the bedside in Risser Hospital as Rayburn faded away.

"It was a very easy death for a very great man," Dr. Risser told reporters.

Asked about the immediate cause of death, Risser said simply that: "He just quit breathing."

Then, in more formal language, he put it this way:

"At 6:20 this morning Mr. Sam passed away. He died quietly. He showed no evidence of pain lines in the face. He seemed to be as one in sleep."

Rayburn had been unconscious for about 36 hours before his death. The doctor and family had spent two near-sleepless nights at the hospital.

'MR. DEMOCRAT' DEAD

Authorities here said the funeral will be at 1:30 p.m. CST Saturday at the First Baptist church in Bonham.

The body will lie in state from 9 a.m. Friday until 9 a.m. Saturday in the Sam Rayburn Memorial Library.

Mr. Sam was taken to the Wise Funeral Home shortly after the family left the hospital in the dawn of a windy, gray day.

The burial will be in the family plot perhaps three-quarters of a mile from the center of this northern Texas town of 7,000, where Rayburn was the outstanding citizen.

President Kennedy is expected generally to attend the services. He will have to shuffle arrangements for a four-day Western trip to do so.

The first telephone call from the little yellow brick hospital after Rayburn died went from Dr. Risser to Kennedy's physician in Washington, Dr. Janet Travell.

This was by long-standing prearrangement. The President had asked that he be kept in touch with Rayburn's condition.

The sergeant-at-arms of the House, Zeake Johnson, was told promptly that the man who wielded the gavel there more than twice as long as any other was dead, and it was from him that the first word of Rayburn's death came out.

At Rayburn's bedside here when he yielded to cancer were members of his family, doctors on the hospital staff and several nurses.

Dispute on Land Value Costs Kentuckians $500

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—When the government offered a Hardinsburg couple $17,500 for about 30 acres of their land, they went to court. It cost them $500.

A federal district court jury Wednesday awarded Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Jarboe $17,000 for the land, needed by the federal government for use in construction at the Rough River reservoir flood control project.

President's Western Trip May Include Major Address

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy, saddened by the death of House Speaker Sam Rayburn, set out today on a four-day Western trip.

The trip will be partly political but probably will open with a major foreign policy talk. The schedule includes Democratic party tributes and a display of naval striking power, but might be altered so that Kennedy could attend Rayburn's funeral.

Kennedy's big jet took off from Andrews Air Force Base in Maryland at 9:31 a.m. EST for Seattle, where he speaks at the University of Washington's 100th anniversary celebration this afternoon.

The President reportedly planned to make his university speech the big one of his first tour of the West since election day last November. He was expected to give his view of the international scene and the broad area of East-West conflict.

Kennedy will remain overnight in Seattle to address a dinner honoring Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash. He has a similar engagement in Phoenix Friday night, where Democrats are paying their respects to 84-year-old

Sen. Carl Hayden, D-Ariz. Magnuson has completed his 25th year in Congress, while Hayden has served in Washington twice that long. Both started in the House.

Kennedy's schedule bore distinct political markings at both start and finish. Magnuson, with Gov. Albert Rosellini, Sen. Henry M. Jackson and other Democratic state and party officials were to greet him at Seattle's Boeing Field.

Then, after skipping from the Northwest to Phoenix and San Diego, Kennedy will mingle with California Democratic leaders at a party dinner in Hollywood on Saturday night. He'll make a speech there too.

Earlier Saturday, Kennedy will witness Navy and Marine exercises at San Diego. He is slated to fly from Phoenix Friday night and board the carrier Kitty Hawk at the Naval Air Station.

3 New U.S. Satellites Seek Data for Spy-in-Sky System

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Three new United States satellites circled the globe today seeking data for navigation and spy-in-the-sky space systems.

The trio soared aloft Wednesday in one of this nation's most productive days in the space age.

Two of the satellites rode skyward in the nose of a Thor-Able-Star rocket fired from Cape Canaveral Wednesday night. One is the 190-pound Transit 4B, partially powered by a nuclear generator. The other is a 240-pound "Dumbell" package which is intended to stretch out more than 100 feet in two weeks in a satellite stabilization experiment.

The satellite twins gave the U.S. a big boost toward a space navigation network to guide ships, planes, submarines and missiles.

Earlier, the 35th rocket in the Discoverer series flung a satellite into orbit from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., in another try at developing means of recovering capsules from space.

Within a few days, the Discoverer is scheduled to eject a capsule which Hawaii-based planes will attempt to snare as it parachutes to earth. Eight such capsules have been retrieved in previous tests. Perfecting the technique is essential for recovering data from the Midas missile detector and Samos reconnaissance satellites.

The successes raised the total of successful U.S. satellites to 59. The Soviet Union has orbited 13.

In other missile-space developments Wednesday:

A Pershing artillery missile scored its 22nd success in 26 test firings on a short-range hop of less than 220 miles from Cape Canaveral.

The Nike-Zeus missile killer system registered a double triumph at White Sands, N.M. In one test, Zeus radar tracked a special missile test target. In the other, the launch technique and ground electronics equipment were given a trial.

The Air Force announced plans to send into orbit next month a 19-pound satellite named Oscar (for orbiting satellite carrying amateur radio) to beam signals to more than 200,000 amateur radio operators in this country. It is intended to be kicked loose from a Discoverer, Oscar will enable the hams to practice the art of tracking and observing a moving space object.

In the only failure, an Argo D8 rocket broke apart shortly after it lifted off from Point Arguello, Calif. The shot was intended to probe briefly the Van Allen radiation belt with a parcel of instruments.

They describe their aims as: "We oppose atmospheric nuclear testing because of the dangers of radioactive fallout and because of its acceleration of the arms race.

"We condemn Russia for their test series and we support the President's reluctance to resume testing. We urge Russia and the United States to reach an agreement which will prevent further atmospheric testing as a move to reduce international tensions . . ."

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy led the nation today in mourning for Mr. Sam.

In a statement released after the chief executive, saddened by the death of House Speaker Sam Rayburn, had taken off on a trip to the West Coast, Kennedy said the nation "has lost a devoted servant and the citizens of this country an unflinching friend."

The presidential statement echoed sentiments voiced in an outpouring of sad tributes which began flowing from the Capitol immediately after the news came from Bonham, Tex., where the speaker died.

There were no party lines in the expressions of grief over the loss of the man known as "Mr. Democrat." The Republicans who fought him at every step in the chambers of Congress were as outspoken in sorrow as the most loyal political followers.

Two partners of the speaker in dealing with the nation's business—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana—effectively summed up for their legislative colleagues.

Johnson's office spoke for the vice president while Johnson himself was on the way to the airport for a Western trip—a journey which Johnson cancelled upon receipt of the news. The statement said:

"The Capitol is a lonely place without him and the good people of the world have lost a companion and an ally. He was always there when he was needed. His voice and his judgment were heard and respected. In the end

150 Ironton School Pupils Under Probe

IRONTON, Ohio (AP)—Charges are expected to be filed as the result of a formal police investigation into acts of vandalism and harassment against two Ironton High School teachers.

Police Capt. Gene Markel said 150 students may be involved. The teachers reportedly objected to a football pep rally and bonfire last Thursday night. The riotous activity began after the rally when students formed a car caravan, went to one teacher's home and shouted insults.

The city manager, school board, police and fire chief met Wednesday and decided to open a probe after hearing about these alleged incidents.

After driving to the first teacher's house, the caravan went to the second teacher's residence and threw things against the house, threw live firecrackers on the porch and tossed a dead cat through a window.

Friday night, rocks were thrown through the window at the first teacher's home, almost striking his wife.

Saturday night a fire bomb was thrown at his home. It landed on the porch but it was extinguished after a neighbor saw it hit. Later gasoline was poured around the garage but the teacher chased the perpetrators away when he spotted them doing it.

With perhaps 85 per cent of the returns in, the unofficial count gave Macapagal 3,188,135 votes and Garcia 2,529,756.

In the vice presidential race, Macapagal's running mate, Emmanuel Pelaez, led with 2,017,056 votes. His closest rival, independent Sergio Osmena Jr., son of the late President Osmena, had 1,819,086. Gil J. Puyat, Garcia's running mate, had 1,479,532.

Macapagal is pledged to maintain the Philippines' strong ties with the United States, and may even improve them.

Tobacco Evil Experiment Costs Teacher His Job

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Substitute teacher Ernest Bury, 30, thought the most scientific way to demonstrate the evils of tobacco to eighth graders would be to let them puff a cigarette.

Bury, who doesn't smoke, borrowed a cigarette from a student at Jonas Salk School and sucked each child take a puff.

About half the class of 30 tried it. One girl got queasy and complained to the principal, who called the superintendent, Fred J. Kiesel. He fired Bury.

Very Easy Death Takes Mr. Sam, Very Great Man

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

BONHAM, Tex. (AP)—Sam Rayburn, who served longer as House speaker than any man, died today in the home town he loved.

Cancer and its complications caused his death. He would have been 80 on Jan. 6.

The White House was notified immediately. So was Rep. John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, the Democratic leader of the House.

McCormack was the man Rayburn chose to serve temporarily as speaker when "Mr. Sam" had to leave Congress before it closed because of what he called lumbago.

But even then, his doctor believes, he knew he had cancer.

The physician, Dr. Joe A. Risser, and members of the speaker's family and staff stood by the bedside in Risser Hospital as Rayburn faded away.

"It was a very easy death for a very great man," Dr. Risser told reporters.

Asked about the immediate cause of death, Risser said simply that: "He just quit breathing." Then, in more formal language, he put it this way:

"At 6:20 this morning Mr. Sam passed away. He died quietly. He showed no evidence of pain lines in the face. He seemed to be as one in sleep."

Rayburn had been unconscious for about 36 hours before his

Some Taylor Ideas on Viet Nam Given Nod

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration is reported to have decided to go ahead with some of Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor's recommendations for strengthening pro-Western South Viet Nam against a growing Communist onslaught.

"We're beginning to get off the ground," a high official told a reporter.

Secrecy still obscures details of what Taylor recommended to President Kennedy after returning two weeks ago from a fact-finding mission to Southeast Asia. Taylor is Kennedy's personal military adviser.

Reports from South Viet Nam indicated a number of actions already may have begun.

U.S. Air Force jets have been carrying out aerial photographic reconnaissance. The Air Force has been reported shuttling plane-loads of supplies from the Philippines to airfields near Saigon. The supplies were said to include helicopters capable of carrying troops and mounting guns for low-level strafing.

There also have been reports that the Air Force is assigning several officers and men to give added instruction to the small Vietnamese air force.

Some members of the Taylor mission are known to have felt Vietnamese air power wasn't being used to its fullest advantage, even though it included only about a dozen single engine propeller-driven fighter planes and a handful of elderly transport aircraft.

A federal district court jury Wednesday awarded Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Jarboe $17,000 for the land, needed by the federal government for use in construction at the Rough River reservoir flood control project.

President's Western Trip May Include Major Address

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy, saddened by the death of House Speaker Sam Rayburn, set out today on a four-day Western trip.

The trip will be partly political but probably will open with a major foreign policy talk. The schedule includes Democratic party tributes and a display of naval striking power, but might be altered so that Kennedy could attend Rayburn's funeral.

Kennedy's big jet took off from Andrews Air Force Base in Maryland at 9:31 a. m. EST for Seattle, where he speaks at the University of Washington's 100th anniversary celebration this afternoon.

The President reportedly planned to make his university speech the big one of his first tour of the West since election day last November. He was expected to give his view of the international scene and the broad area of East-West conflict.

Kennedy will remain overnight in Seattle to address a dinner honoring Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash. He has a similar engagement in Phoenix Friday night, where Democrats are paying their respects to 84-year-old death. The doctor and family had spent two near-sleepless nights at the hospital.

Authorities here said the funeral will be at 1:30 p. m. CST Saturday at the First Baptist church in Bonham.

The body will lie in state from 9 a. m. Friday until 9 a. m. Saturday in the Sam Rayburn Memorial Library.

Mr. Sam was taken to the Wise Funeral Home shortly after the family left the hospital in the dawn of a windy, gray day.

The burial will be in the family plot perhaps three-quarters of a mile from the center of this northern Texas town of 7,000, where Rayburn was the outstanding citizen.

President Kennedy is expected generally to attend the services. He will have to shuffle arrangements for a four-day Western trip to do so.

The first telephone call from the little yellow brick hospital after Rayburn died went from Dr. Risser to Kennedy's physician in Washington, Dr. Janet Travell.

This was by long-standing prearrangement. The President had asked that he be kept in touch with Rayburn's condition.

The sergeant-at-arms of the House, Zeake Johnson, was told promptly that the man who wielded the gavel there more than twice as long as any other was dead, and it was from him that the first word of Rayburn's death came out.

At Rayburn's bedside here when he yielded to cancer were members of his family, doctors on the hospital staff and several nurses.

Then, after skipping from the Northwest to Phoenix and San Diego, Kennedy will mingle with California Democratic leaders at a party dinner in Hollywood on Saturday night. He'll make a speech there too.

Earlier Saturday, Kennedy will witness Navy and Marine exercises at San Diego. He is slated to fly from Phoenix Friday night and board the carrier Kitty Hawk at the Naval Air Station.

Kennedy will fly back to the capital late Sunday night after a day to himself in the Los Angeles area. Most likely he'll stop in Santa Monica, Calif., for a visit and perhaps a dip in the pool at the home of his brother-in-law and sister, actor and Mrs. Peter Lawford.

Profit Takers Trim Stock Mart Prices

NEW YORK (AP)—Profit taking trimmed stock market prices early this afternoon as the trading pace fell off to the week's slowest.

The Associated Press average 60 stocks at noon was off 1.10 at 267.70 with industrials off 2.00, rails unchanged and utilities off .60.

Key stocks took losses of fractions of a point or more along a broad front. The market was settling down from the record highs reached in a prolonged autumn rally.

Analysts saw the process as a normal one following a rise of such proportions and expressions of confidence predominated on Wall Street.

The decline was not tied directly to any particular news item.

Chrysler was adversely affected by news of lower sales and reacted sharply. Most autos, steels, chemicals, coppers, electrical equipments and oils were lower. Tobacco and drugs were narrowly higher on balance.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon slipped 4.53 to 729.81.

Prices moved irregularly on the American Stock Exchange in moderate trading.

Corporate bonds were off irregularly. U.S. government bonds continued the week's decline.

Farm Bureau Trustee Poll Is Deadlocked

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Farm Bureau Department's 26-member board of trustees has three new members, six were re-elected and there was a deadlock over the remaining spot up the election Wednesday.

New trustees chosen to three-year terms by delegates to the Federation's 43rd annual convention are Clifford Hoover of Bucyrus, District 7; Mrs. Eldon Davidson of Bowling Green, northwest women, and Mrs. Herbert Werstler of Creston, northeast women.

Re-elected were Bruce Roadarmel of Bowling Green, District 2; Ralph Litter of Andover, District 4; Carl E. Rufener, Suffield, District 9; J. Warren Healea, Mount Vernon, District 12; Bennett Swingle, Philo, District 16, and Golden R. Canaday, Northport, District 22.

Delegates were to be repolled to resolve the deadlock in District 5 between incumbent C. E. McLeary of Van Wert and Chester Patterson of Lafayette.

guage indicated borrowing and as DiSalle walked away, Rep. Charles Kurfess, R - Wood, resumed questioning Haines, saying:

"Test anyone be confused by the conversation of the last few minutes."

That was as far as he got and the verbal fireworks were on. DiSalle charged back to the table, pointed a finger at Kurfess and said:

"Let's not talk about confusion, Chuck. I heard about the going over you gave the university presidents this afternoon. I don't think it's the responsibility of a legislative committee to intimidate professional people to the point that they will not testify to what they believe."

"That did not happen," Fisher snapped back. "Don't accuse me of conducting a committee meeting in anything but an honest, proper and courteous manner." DiSalle, however, countered with:

"Power can be used in many ways," adding that questions can be so phrased as to discourage objective responses from persons who might fear reprisal.

The reference was to Kurfess' criticism of certain pay increases at Bowling Green State University.

Earlier in the day the Senate Finance Committee chairman, William H. Deddens, R-Hamilton, dispelled any thought of an early adjournment of the General Assembly with the estimate that he cannot possibly start hearings on the general appropriations bill for 1962-63 before next week.

Republican legislative leaders had expressed hope that the session—held because DiSalle vetoed all appropriations for the budget year starting next July 1—might wind up this week.

Pickaway Grange

SCIOTO VALLEY

Scioto Valley Grange met Tuesday evening with H. A. Bumgarner, worthy master, presiding.

Members approved a contribution to the Ohio State Youth Fund for youth projects in Ohio granges.

A letter from John H. Dowler, county deputy, was read which contained the lease agreement for the new Grange and 4-H Community Center Building being erected at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds.

The secretary gave a report of the cafeteria supper sponsored recently by the grange.

Helen Hoover, lecturer, presented the following Thanksgiving program:

A reading "History of Thanksgiving" by Mrs. Jean Thomas; group singing of "America the Beautiful"; birthdays and anniversaries for November were recognized; a talk by Harry Speakman entitled, "Why we, as farmers, are thankful"; Mabel Fisher spoke on "Why housewives are thankful"; and a poem was read by Clara Creager, "When the Frost is on the Pumpkin."

Refreshments were served to those attending by Bernice Speakman and her committee.

Hocking Escapee Nabbed in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—The FBI has arrested a man wanted in an escape a year ago from Ohio Penitentiary, where he was being held under an armed robbery conviction.

James H. Gale, special agent in charge of the Chicago FBI office, announced the arrest of Bernard Keith Gillespie in a North Side tavern Wednesday.

He said Gillespie has been working as a salesman for a cemetery in Elmhurst, Ill., under an assumed name.

Gillespie was serving a 10-25 year term in Ohio at the time of his escape from Hocking Honor Camp at Logan Nov. 21, 1960, Gale said. He was convicted of participating in the armed robbery of the First National Bank of New Bremen, Ohio, Feb. 20, 1958, the agent said.

13 U.N. Airmen Brutally Slain By Congolese

Unarmed Fliers Shot Shortly after Arrest By Rebel Soldiers

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The United Nations today announced that insurgent Congolese troops had "brutally murdered" 13 Italian U.N. airmen at the Kivu Province town of Kindu. A U.N. spokesman said the unarmed fliers were shot by unruly troops shortly after their arrest last Saturday afternoon.

Some of their bodies were dismembered and hurled into the Lualaba River, the spokesman added, by soldiers who apparently suspected them of being Belgian paratroopers.

The U.N. spokesman, George Ivan Smith, said the U.N. command was presenting "specific proposals" to the central Congo government for forceful action to investigate and punish those responsible for the murder and to prevent a repetition.

If the government response seems insufficient, Smith said, the U.N. is prepared to act immediately on its own. He added that Malayan troops prepared for any necessary action, already are being flown to reinforce the 200-man Malayan U.N. garrison in Kindu.

The U.N. already had threatened military action if the rebellious soldiers—part of a disorderly command of more than 2,000 claiming allegiance to leftist Vice Premier Antoine Gizenga—failed to give up the Italians.

U.N. headquarters here was in teletype consultation with Acting Secretary-General U Thant in New York throughout the night to decide on the next steps to be taken by the world body.

The murder of the Italians was announced after word that Congolese Gen. Victor Lundula had returned to Kindu for another attempt to secure the Italians' release and to quell what was described as an open mutiny against the authority of the central government. Diplomats in Leopoldville said Gizenga himself was responsible for the mutiny.

The 13 Italian airmen had flown into Kindu in two C119 transports on a routine mission Saturday. Congolese troops attacked the airmen in the U.N. Malayan officers' mess, manhandled and beat them and took them off to the town prison.

Eyewitness reports to the U.N. said the men were shot before a crowd. When U.N. officials later confronted the local Congolese commander, he pleaded ignorance of the events and intimidated his men beyond his control. "You know how soldiers are," he reportedly told the U.N. officials.

2 Class Plays Open Tonight

Class plays in a comic vein will lighten the week for two area high schools, with opening nights scheduled tonight in Amanda - Clearcreek and Circleville auditoriums.

The CHS junior class production of "Bull in a China Shop," a hilarious spoof on crime and punishment, is being staged tonight and tomorrow night under the direction of Robert Ransom.

A carefully prepared cast works in front of effective sets to create two hours of thorough enjoyment for what is expected to be a near capacity audience. Curtain time is 8 p. m. and tickets are available at the door.

The Amanda - Clearcreek seniors get in their comical licks at the faculty in a presentation of "Are Teachers Human?", also opening at 8 p. m. today.

A farce with a serious undertone, the play deals with situations pitting teacher against student in laugh-provoking fashion. Refreshments are to be sold at the door Friday night. Tickets are available at the auditorium.

Exams To Test Scholarship of School Seniors

The General Scholarship Test for high school seniors in the city and county will be administered tomorrow in Circleville High School, George McDowell and George A. Hartman, superintendents of the county and city educational systems, announced today.

The tests, designed as a complex battery to disclose particular abilities of students in comparison with other seniors throughout Ohio, are given annually on a voluntary basis. A nominal fee per student is charged to cover the cost of preparing the examinations.

Testing will begin at 8:45 a. m. tomorrow. Examinations, prepared under the supervision of the State Department of Education, will cover English, history, mathematics, general science and reading and language studies. The individual tests are rated by state personnel on a basis of comparison with scores of all students taking such examinations.

McDowell is chairman of a local testing committee, which includes Hartman, Robert Seward and Judson Lanman.

Another test, also voluntary and at no charge, is the Ohio State University agricultural examination to be administered at Walnut Twp. High School beginning 1 p. m. tomorrow. Carl Bennett, Walnut principal, will give the test and results will be sent to the county superintendent's office.

Woman's Purse Taken From Parked Auto

A Williamsport woman told Circleville Police yesterday that her purse was stolen from her auto parked at a furniture warehouse on S. Pickaway St.

Linda Hosler said that when she returned to her auto, after shopping in the warehouse, her purse was missing that contained several papers, $6 in cash and $23 in checks.

She informed officers that she had stopped payment on the checks.

Profit Takers Trim Stock Mart Prices

NEW YORK (AP)—Profit taking trimmed stock market prices early this afternoon as the trading pace fell off to the week's slowest.

The Associated Press average 60 stocks at noon was off 1.10 at 267.70 with industrials off 2.00, rails unchanged and utilities off .60.

Key stocks took losses of fractions of a point or more along a broad front. The market was settling down from the record highs reached in a prolonged autumn rally.

Analysts saw the process as a normal one following a rise of such proportions and expressions of confidence predominated on Wall Street.

The decline was not tied directly to any particular news item.

Chrysler was adversely affected by news of lower sales and reacted sharply. Most autos, steels, chemicals, copiers, electrical equipments and oils were lower. Tobacco and drugs were narrowly higher on balance.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon slipped 4.53 to 729.81.

Prices moved irregularly on the American Stock Exchange in moderate trading.

Corporate bonds were off irregularly. U.S. government bonds continued the week's decline.

Farm Bureau Trustee Poll Is Deadlocked

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Farm Bureau Department's 26-member board of trustees has three new members, six were re-elected and there was a deadlock over the remaining spot up the election Wednesday.

New trustees chosen to three-year terms by delegates to the Federation's 43rd annual convention are Clifford Hoover of Bucyrus, District 7; Mrs. Eldon Davidson of Bowling Green, northwest women, and Mrs. Herbert Werstler of Creston, northeast women.

Re-elected were Bruce Roadarmel of Bowling Green, District 2; Ralph Littler of Andover, District 4; Carl E. Ruffener, Suffield, District 9; J. Warren Healea, Mount Vernon, District 12; Bennett Swingle, Philo, District 16; and Golden R. Canaday, Northup, District 22.

Delegates were to be repolled to resolve the deadlock in District 5 between incumbent C. E. McLeary of Van Wert and Chester Patterson of Lafayette.

guage indicated borrowing and as DiSalle walked away, Rep. Charles Kurfess, R - Wood, resumed questioning Haines, saying:

"Let anyone be confused by the conversation of the last few minutes . . ."

That was as far as he got and the verbal fireworks were on. DiSalle charged back to the table, pointed a finger at Kurfess and said:

"Let's not talk about confusion, Chuck. I heard about the going over you gave the university presidents this afternoon. I don't think it's the responsibility of a legislative committee to intimidate professional people to the point that they will not testify to what they believe."

"That did not happen," Fisher snapped back. "Don't accuse me of conducting a committee meeting in anything but an honest, proper and courteous manner."

DiSalle, however, countered with:

"Power can be used in many ways," adding that questions can be so phrased as to discourage objective responses from persons who might fear reprisal.

The reference was to Kurfess' criticism of certain pay increases at Bowling Green State University.

Earlier in the day the Senate Finance Committee chairman, William H. Deddens, R-Hamilton, dissipated any thought of an early adjournment of the General Assembly with the estimate that he cannot possibly start hearings on the general appropriations bill for 1962-63 before next week.

Republican legislative leaders had expressed hope that the session—held because DiSalle vetoed all appropriations for the budget year starting next July 1—might wind up this week.

Pickaway Grange

SCIOTO VALLEY

Scioto Valley Grange met Tuesday evening with H. A. Bumgarner, worthy master, presiding.

Members approved a contribution to the Ohio State Youth Fund for youth projects in Ohio granges.

A letter from John H. Dowler, county deputy, was read which contained the lease agreement for the new Grange and 4-H Community Center Building being erected at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds.

The secretary gave a report of the cafeteria supper sponsored recently by the grange.

Helen Hoover, lecturer, presented the following Thanksgiving program:

A reading "History of Thanksgiving" by Mrs. Jean Thomas; group singing of "America the Beautiful"; birthdays and anniversaries for November were recognized; a talk by Harry Speakman entitled, "Why we, as farmers, are thankful"; Mabel Fisher spoke on "Why housewives are thankful"; and a poem was read by Clara Creager, "When the Frost is on the Pumpkin."

Refreshments were served to those attending by Bernice Speakman and her committee.

Hocking Escapee

Nabbed in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—The FBI has arrested a man wanted in an escape a year ago from Ohio Penitentiary, where he was being held under an armed robbery conviction.

James H. Gale, special agent in charge of the Chicago FBI office, announced the arrest of Bernard Keith Gillespie in a North Side tavern Wednesday.

He said Gillespie has been working as a salesman for a cemetery in Elmhurst, Ill., under an assumed name.

Gillespie was serving a 10-25 year term in Ohio at the time of his escape from Hocking Honor Camp at Logan Nov. 21, 1960, Gale said. He was convicted of participating in the armed robbery of the First National Bank of New Bremen, Ohio, Feb. 20, 1958, the agent said.

13 U.N. Airmen Brutally Slain By Congolese

Unarmed Fliers Shot Shortly after Arrest By Rebel Soldiers

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The United Nations today announced that insurgent Congolese troops had "brutally murdered" 13 Italian U.N. airmen at the Kivu Province town of Kindu.

A U.N. spokesman said the unarmed fliers were shot by unruly troops shortly after their arrest last Saturday afternoon.

Some of their bodies were dismembered and hurled into the Lualaba River, the spokesman added, by soldiers who apparently suspected them of being Belgian paratroopers.

The U.N. spokesman, George Ivan Smith, said the U.N. command was presenting "specific proposals" to the central Congo government for forceful action to investigate and punish those responsible for the murder and to prevent a repetition.

If the government response seems insufficient, Smith said, the U.N. is prepared to act immediately on its own. He added that Malayan troops prepared for any necessary action, already are being flown to reinforce the 200-man Malayan U.N. garrison in Kindu.

The U.N. already had threatened military action if the rebellious soldiers—part of a disorderly command of more than 2,000 claiming allegiance to leftist Vice Premier Antoine Gizenga—failed to give up the Italians.

U.N. headquarters here was in teletype consultation with Acting Secretary-General U Thant in New York throughout the night to decide on the next steps to be taken by the world body.

The murder of the Italians was announced after word that Congolese Gen. Victor Lundula had returned to Kindu for another attempt to secure the Italians' release and to quell what was described as an open mutiny against the authority of the central government. Diplomats in Leopoldville said Gizenga himself was responsible for the mutiny.

The 13 Italian airmen had flown into Kindu in two C119 transports on a routine mission Saturday. Congolese troops attacked the airmen in the U.N. Malayan officers' mess, manhandled and beat them and took them off to the town prison.

Witness reports to the U.N. said the men were shot before a crowd. When U.N. officials later confronted the local Congolese commander, he pleaded ignorance of the events and intimidated his men beyond his control. "You know how soldiers are," he reportedly told the U.N. officials.

2 Class Plays Open Tonight

Class plays in a comic vein will lighten the week for two area high schools, with opening nights scheduled tonight in Amanda - Clearcreek and Circleville auditoriums.

The CHS junior class production of "Bull in a China Shop," a hilarious spoof on crime and punishment, is being staged tonight and tomorrow night under the direction of Robert Ransom.

A carefully prepared cast works in front of effective sets to create two hours of thorough enjoyment for what is expected to be a near - capacity audience. Curtain time is 8 p. m. and tickets are available at the door.

The Amanda - Clearcreek seniors get in their comical licks at the faculty in a presentation of "Are Teachers Human?", also opening at 8 p. m. today.

A farce with a serious undertone, the play deals with situations pitting teacher against student in laugh-provoking fashion. Refreshments are to be sold at the door Friday night. Tickets are available at the auditorium.

Exams To Test Scholarship of School Seniors

The General Scholarship Test for high school seniors in the city and county will be administered tomorrow in Circleville High School, George McDowell and George A. Hartman, superintendents of the county and city educational systems, announced today.

The tests, designed as a complex battery to disclose particular abilities of students in comparison with other seniors throughout Ohio, are given annually on a voluntary basis. A nominal fee per student is charged to cover the cost of preparing the examinations.

Testing will begin at 8:45 a. m. tomorrow. Examinations, prepared under the supervision of the State Department of Education, will cover English, history, mathematics, general science and reading and language studies. The individual tests are rated by state personnel on a basis of comparison with scores of all students taking such examinations.

McDowell is chairman of a local testing committee, which includes Hartman, Robert Seward and Judson Lanman.

Another test, also voluntary and at no charge, is the Ohio State University agricultural examination to be administered at Walnut Twp. High School beginning 1 p. m. tomorrow. Carl Bennett, Walnut principal, will give the test and results will be sent to the county superintendent's office.

Woman's Purse Taken From Parked Auto

A Williamsport woman told Circleville Police yesterday that her purse was stolen from her auto parked at a furniture warehouse on S. Pickaway St.

Linda Hosler said that when she returned to her auto, after shopping in the warehouse, her purse was missing that contained several papers, $6 in cash and $23 in checks.

She informed officers that she had stopped payment on the checks.

4 New Biographies Attempt To Tell Clark Gable Story

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Clark Gable, who died a year ago today, already is the subject of four printed biographies.

The authors are his widow, his ex-secretary and two professional biographers.

"Clark Gable — A Personal Portrait" (Prentice-Hall, $3.95) bears the by-line of Kathleen Gable, last of the star's five wives. It is indeed personal, perhaps too much so for some readers. Others will find it rewarding for a view of Gable's final years.

The tone is set on the first page: "I needed all of Clark's courage and strength that night I left his hospital room for the last time. They had told me he was gone. But, of course, I tried to hold onto him. Heartstricken, I wouldn't let go. For two hours I held him in my arms."

"Finally, I did what my husband would have expected me to do—I faced up to it. Pa was gone. I touched his cold face with my hand, in a last farewell, and I walked out of the room."

Another intimate view is offered in "Dear Mr. G—" (Little, Brown, $4.95) by Jean Garceau with Inez Cooke. Miss Garceau was employed by Gable for 21 years, and her book proves that a man can be a hero to his own secretary.

She had been Carole Lombard's secretary, and it is in the Lombard marriage to Gable that she is most illuminating.

"Clark's bedroom was done in beige and brown, with quilted beige wallpaper, a large green couch and attractive green chintz curtains."

"The bed was of brown tufted leather. He had bookcases built around the desk and a dictionary stand installed. Clark never tried to hide his lack of formal education. 'I'm just a guy trying to learn,' he'd say."

"The King: The Story of Clark Gable" (Coward-McCann, $4.95) is the work of Charles Samuels, as-told-to author of the excellent memoir of Ethel Waters. Already serialized, the Gable book is to be published in January.

Samuels takes a more external and perhaps more objective view of Gable. Much of the book is necessarily twice-told tales. But there are also some disclosures that may surprise readers.

Among them: That Gable was a close man with a buck; that he was estranged from his father for many years; that he hated the "Adventure" ad line; "Gable's back and Garson's got him"; that he was obsessed with cleanliness.

"Clark Gable" (Pyramid, 50 cents) is a workmanlike job by newspaperman George Carpozi Jr. of the major events of the actor's life.

These and the multitude of other accounts of Gable's life make him seem strangely distant on this anniversary of his death. The facts are there, but where is the man?

The fact remains that Gable was and is hard to capture in words. His set-jaw look and his crackling voice were known by everyone, but few claimed to understand him. Even close friends — there were few — admitted he was an enigma.

The term "some pumpkins" to designate a person or thing of consequence apparently arose in New York City about a century ago when the public's fancy was taken by "monster pumpkins" displayed at the Crystal Palace.

NEW M-14 RIFLE — Technicians check racks of new Army M-14 rifles awaiting acceptance test firing at the Harrington and Richardson plant in Worcester, Mass. Every rifle, after a high-pressure proof round, must pass successfully a functioning test of semi-automatic, burst automatic and sustained automatic fire and its speed in automatic fire must be within narrow limits. Replacing four hand weapons currently in use by the Army, the M-14 uses the standard NATO 7.62mm cartridge.

4 New Biographies Attempt To Tell Clark Gable Story

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Clark Gable, who died a year ago today, already is the subject of four printed biographies.

The authors are his widow, his ex-secretary and two professional biographers.

"Clark Gable — A Personal Portrait" (Prentice-Hall, $3.95) bears the by-line of Kathleen Gable, last of the star's five wives. It is indeed personal, perhaps too much so for some readers. Others will find it rewarding for a view of Gable's final years. The tone is set on the first page: "I needed all of Clark's courage and strength that night I left his hospital room for the last time. They had told me he was gone. But, of course, I tried to hold onto him. Heartstricken, I wouldn't let go. For two hours I held him in my arms."

Willoughby Attorney Faced with Suspension

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Supreme Court commissioners on grievances and discipline recommended indefinite suspension today for attorney Sol C. Copperman of Willoughby.

The high court set no date for action on the recommendation.

The commissioners acted on complaints of the Lake County Bar Association that Copperman used clients' funds to pay their attorney fees and solicited legal business through the mails.

Households Smaller

Together — that much-talked-about, little understood fad of a few years ago — really doesn't exist, according to the U. S. Department of Commerce. It may be a reality in the Congo or Lower Aberdard, but it rubs against the grain in societies with continually rising standards of living.

This bit of information is one of the by-products of a study by commerce statisticians on construction trends of the past, present and future, which includes the interesting information that American households are becoming smaller and that by the year 2000, only 1.68 Americans will be living in the average dwelling unit.

As recently as 1940, there were still 2½ Americans enjoying statistical companionship in the average house or apartment, but this has since dwindled to a current occupancy of only 2.08 persons (as close to whole human beings as statistical objectivity permits). By 2000 an additional 4-10ths of a person will have moved out. This trend, of course, holds promise of a healthy future for the construction in-

Gotham English Is Mystery

By BUD SPRUNGER
(For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP)—A stranger in this town can run into trouble trying to order breakfast.

Friend of mine from the Southwest couldn't get a doughnut. They kept handing him something with jelly in the middle—where the hole is supposed to be. Finally he found out that in this spot the word for doughnut is cruller.

Arriving from San Francisco, I made the mistake of asking for a snail with my coffee. The dudes turned sort of green before I corrected that to butterhorn. They figured that out but told me in the future to ask for Danish.

Other translations are not quite as difficult. Almost any tourist can figure that hotcakes on the menu are pancakes.

But you can get mixed up in the names of meals. In the Midwest, Southwest, West and South we say supper for the last meal of the day, but around here it is dinner. And so they won't get confused, they say lunch when they mean dinner.

And, oh yes, around here they call a waitress Miss, not Mam, as in the Southwest.

By and large these folks speak English pretty well, but they do have a lot of trouble with the word bring. They hand you something and say "bring it over there." Apparently the teachers around here don't drill their kids on the verb take.

New Yorkers go to business, while the rest of us go to work. Maybe they just don't work as hard here. I don't know.

You never hear of them going to the city, either. Just about everybody in Northern California goes to the city when they go to San Francisco, which they pronounce San Francisco. But here suburbanites say they are going to New York, and those that live in boroughs other than Manhattan say they are going to town.

Clothing can cause you trouble, too. I wanted a pair of Levis the other day and some clerk was trying to be helpful. After I had tried out overall pants and jeans on him, he finally convinced me that what I wanted was a pair of dungarees. Turned out he was right.

Maybe the trouble here is the schools. The kids around here don't get grades No. sir. What they get are marks.

And although that bring and take thing floors them, the Eastern kids go to grammar or elementary schools instead of grade schools.

When they go to a grocery, they haul home a bag of food when they should be getting a sack. Or, as they say in Tennessee and Kentucky, a poke.

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP)—Fear that the U.S. dollar is heading into another struggle in world financial markets is an added starter at today's meeting in Paris of 20 nations, all entries in the world trade competition.

And the American delegates also are aware that the United States is anticipating one of the bitterest battles in years over a revision of its tariff policies.

The Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development, meeting in Paris, is known as the Atlantic Community, although some like Turkey and Greece are a bit distant from that ocean. Its official aim is to expand world trade and spur economic growth.

Looking over the shoulders of the delegates at the conference is the Soviet Union. The Reds are conceded to be planning a stepped-up assault on world trade markets themselves. They've already inflicted considerable pain on American oil companies.

The United States is especially interested just now to see world trade expand—specifically its own exports. Its imports have climbed sharply and so has the deficit in its balance of payments. If continued, the trend could put pressure on the value of the dollar.

The deficit arises because the dollars we spend abroad on imports, foreign aid, military commitments, investment, travel exceeds the dollars we get back for our exports, earnings on investments. The deficit almost disappeared early in 1961 but jumped by 50 per cent during the summer and now runs around $3 billion a year.

Some of the dollars that foreigners get are used to buy gold from our Treasury. And a year ago the outflow of gold reached a volume that made the dollar itself unpopular in some world financial markets. The United States bolstered the dollar's value by trimming the deficit through cuts in overseas spending and pushing of American exports.

Now the threat is once again sighted. Not even the dollar could hold its exchange value if the imbalance continued indefinitely.

Adding to the problem is the rapid growth of Western Europe's economy and export trade and the move of Britain toward joining in a trade bloc with nations on the Continent. That could freeze American exporters out of an important market.

The U.S. administration talks of meeting this threat by bargaining for trade concessions. And to be able to bargain it proposes to ask Congress for power to cut tariffs further here.

Opponents of further tariff cutting are numerous. And so are those, both in management and labor, who think tariffs already are so low that ruinous foreign competition is being encouraged in domestic markets.

The fight in Congress could be a major one.

That's the background as the United States starts today's talks in Paris about ways to speed up economic growth for all the 20 nations and make trade freer.

Students Protest Army's Use Of Prof as Grease-Monkey

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Allen Boyd Bogarad had no complaints when he was recalled to the Army recently, but students and faculty members at Whittenberg University here where he was an instructor do. And they say President Kennedy will know about it.

Bogarad, who has bachelor's and master's degrees and has nearly completed work on a doctorate, is a grease monkey in an activated National Guard unit at Ft. Campbell, Ky., university officials reported.

Students and university officials have launched an all-out effort to have the 26-year-old educator released because they claim his military occupation is not using his talents to the best interest of the government.

Bogarad taught industrial communications and management development at Wittenberg.

All of the 1,600 students and faculty at the Lutheran university have been urged to write senators and congressmen and nearly all are expected sign petitions Thursday which will be forwarded to the president.

The petitions quote a recent speech by Kennedy in which he said: "Our progress as a nation can be no swifter than our progress in education."

Dean John N. Stauffer said the school has been unable to find any one man qualified enough to take over the instruction Bogarad handled.

He emphasized that the young teacher made no complaints when he was recalled Oct. 15. But Stauffer said the university feels an educator of Bogarad's ability and talents should be in a more vital job.

He reportedly works in a motor pool at Ft. Campbell, having been assigned to a Virginia National Guard artillery battery of an armored division.

An official at the Kentucky military post said Bogarad is in line to become the battery armorer which would involve having charge of maintaining weapons.

CHILDREN RESCUED IN BRUSH FIRE — Three children are carried to safety by two motorcycle policemen and a newsman as flames roar through dry brush in Kagel Canyon near Los Angeles. Ten homes and other buildings were destroyed. Officials believe an arsonist started the brush fire.

"If your mother won't have you—try mine!"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

ARRESTED FOR DRIVING while intoxicated, an Atlantic City motorist hotly protested his innocence in court. "It's true," he admitted to the judge, "that I had downed six or seven beers before climbing into my car, but they didn't bother me at all. It was the cigar I smoked later that made me slightly dizzy."

"Twenty dollars and three days in the cooler," snapped His Honor, "for driving while under the influence of a cigar."

Clifton Fadiman describes that elegant journalist, Lucius Beebe, as a man with a truly terrible temper, but admits magnanimously that L. B. "wears no man's cholera but his own."

During half-time, a gal was surprised to discover a monkey selling potato chips at a stadium gate. "How come they select a monkey to do that?" she demanded. "It figures," explained the monkey. "I'm a chip monk."

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M.D.

Naturally he can't hear! He's wearing ear plugs!

Wax plugs clog ear canals, silencing sound. But ten minutes with the family doctor's trusty ear syringe washes away this deafness.

At the bottom of the ear canal, sound vibrations have to travel through the drum, across a delicate bony bridge, and pierce an inner ear drum. Here, sound vibrations change into noisy nerve signals.

Trouble anywhere en route weakens and destroys hearing.

The air space around the bony bridge is almost sealed off from the outside world. Its only opening is a thin, long tube leading to the back of the nose.

Pressure, fluid, infection—anything that binds the delicate bony bridge — often softens incoming sound. Swollen adenoids, clogging the opening in back of the nose, quiet the noisy world of many children. New sound thunders in when adenoids are snipped out, or melted with radium or X-ray.

Young adults — especially women — may be plagued with spongy bone anchoring that delicate bony bridge. This "otosclerosis" runs in families. It creeps in, first

Youth and Age

All over the world, people are living longer and youth is pushing harder. The younger people want their place in the sun and the older people do not want to be relegated to porch-sitting. In fact, for most of our population, there are no porches; there are no rockers; in chain stores, there are no cracker barrels; and in the big cities, even the barber shops have been taken by young and pulchritudinous ladies who hold one's hand and with whom one more easily converses than with the barber.

The very young talk about their rights. No one takes them to the woodshed to be spanked. Who has a woodshed? And what parent knows how to spank so that it hurts him more than it hurts the boy?

One of the major rights of the very young, until they get bored with it, is to watch television. Perhaps one reason that our children do not know how to spell, or read, or write is because they watch television while they do their home-work and as everybody is passed to prevent him from becoming a juvenile delinquent, it is not essential to know too much to get on.

Joseph C. Brochek of San Diego has written to me learnedly on the wickedness of brats. He apparently knows the youngsters well, having suffered much at their hands. He says:

"Your insipid thought that parents could control what they want shown by throwing a coin in the slot is suggestive of the complete lack of control by parents over even the most trivial actions of their offspring. Did your old man ever have to lock himself in the bathroom so the kids would not maul him on his can of beer? Our parents' popular after-supper sport being a game of 66 (cards), did that divert me from home work, violin practice, or other tedious obligations for my parents' feeding and clothing me? And as for the little darlings being by pay viewing deprived from the older folks' objective in program selection, they would, in our opinion, merely say: "Move over dad, I can't see from here! Or, should mom or dad have the temerity to demand that they remove themselves from the premises, the kids probably, their pockets being well-lined with 'allowance,' make up T.V. parties and gang up somewhere to collectively feed the 'Tellyes' as they now do the Juke Boxes.

And we, who prefer to recall the days of our youth by viewing Westerns and similar 'He-man' shows' instead (of) the maudlin moans, groans and whining of so-called singers, could sit around and comfort ourselves with knitting."

Well said, of course. But the solution is a television in every room. The girls no longer need to watch mother cook. They can get the pre-fabricated stuff which is so well-packaged that it makes the refrigerator look like the decorations on a Christmas tree. Nobody needed to know how to make a cake; she can buy a mix. And to tell the truth, if one has no memory of what grandmother's cakes were like, the mix actually tastes better than sweetie's efforts which somehow come out wrong so often.

Brother Brochek is too optimistic.

By George Sokolsky

tic about what the youngsters would do if they were not permitted to watch murders at home. The kids would not spend their allowances on television parties, figuring that the stuff is OK if free but is not to be paid for. They might go back to the good old days of the movies where one could sit in Stygian darkness in palatial surroundings and neck to one's heart's content without parental supervision. Is necking worse than murder?

The moral of my tale is really what Brochek is writing about. Parents should control children until the children can control themselves, which may be never in such a world as ours. Nowadays everybody looks to Russia for perfection in education, but the Russians have their problems, too. Their kids, having achieved international equality by throwing bombs, are becoming hoodlums which makes more sense than joining the Komsomol whence comes all perdition.

An ardent Komsomol youth gain status by spying on his parents and discovering that they still retain some bourgeois habits, although that is not as forbidden in Khrushchev's time as it was in Stalin's because Khrushchev is by nature a bourgeois, being a pragmatist rather than an idealist.

The kids know what that means.

Households Smaller

● Together —that much-talked-about, little understood fad of a few years ago — really doesn't exist, according to the U. S. Department of Commerce. It may be a reality in the Congo or Lower Aberdard, but it rubs against the grain in societies with continually rising standards of living.

This bit of information is one of the by-products of a study by commerce statisticians on construction trends of the past, present and future, which includes the interesting information that American households are becoming smaller and that by the year 2000, only 1.68 Americans will be living in the average dwelling unit.

As recently as 1940, there were still 2½ Americans enjoying statistical companionship in the average house or apartment, but this has since dwindled to a current occupancy of only 2.08 persons (as close to whole human beings as statistical objectivity permits). By 2000 an additional 4-10ths of a person will have moved out.

This trend, of course, holds promise of a healthy future for the construction industry. But what of some of the other effects of a dwindling population per dwelling unit? Obviously .68 of a person will not provide much company during leisure hours. Will solitaire and stamp collecting replace bowling, bridge and other partnership pastimes?

Some idea of life in the future may be obtained by comparing social pursuits of the present with those in Granddad's day. Conversation was the biggest loser as households became smaller and visual entertainment replaced parlor games and evening visitations.

Perhaps other social forces in time will again promote companionship between families and communities. The twentieth century might be called the age of experimentation in coping with leisure. As the newness of trying all manner of after-work diversionary activities wears off, more and more people may rediscover the endless enjoyment of associating with other two-legged creatures.

Gotham English Is Mystery

By BUD SPRUNGER
(For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP)—A stranger in this town can run into trouble trying to order breakfast.

Friend of mine from the Southwest couldn't get a doughnut. They kept handing him something with jelly in the middle—where the hole is supposed to be. Finally he found out that in this spot the word for doughnut is cruller.

Arriving from San Francisco, I made the mistake of asking for a snail with my coffee. The dudes turned sort of green before I corrected that to butterfins. They figured that out but told me in the future to ask for Danish.

Other translations are not quite as difficult. Almost any tourist can figure that hotcakes on the menu are pancakes.

But you can get mixed up in the names of meals. In the Midwest, Southwest, West and South we say supper for the last meal of the day, but around here it is dinner. And so they won't get confused, they say lunch when they mean dinner.

And, oh yes, around here they call a waitress Miss, not Mam, as in the Southwest.

By and large these folks speak English pretty well, but they do have a lot of trouble with the word bring. They hand you something and say "bring it over there." Apparently the teachers around here don't drill their kids on the verb take.

New Yorkers go to business, while the rest of us go to work. Maybe they just don't work as hard here. I don't know.

You never hear of them going to the city, either. Just about everybody in Northern California goes to the city when they go to San Francisco, which they pronounce San Francisco. But here suburbanites say they are going to New York, and those that live in boroughs other than Manhattan say they are going to town.

Clothing can cause you trouble, too. I wanted a pair of Levis the other day and some clerk was trying to be helpful. After I had tried out overall pants and jeans on him, he finally convinced me that what I wanted was a pair of dungarees. Turned out he was right.

Maybe the trouble here is the schools. The kids around here don't get grades No. sir. What they get are marks.

And although that bring and take thing floors them, the Eastern kids go to grammar or elementary schools instead of grade schools.

When they go to a grocery, they haul home a bag of food when they should be getting a sack. Or, as they say in Tennessee and Kentucky, a poke.

Try and Stop Me

ARRESTED FOR DRIVING while intoxicated, an Atlantic City motorist hotly protested his innocence in court. "It's true," he admitted to the judge, "that I had downed six or seven beers before climbing into my car, but they didn't bother me at all. It was the cigar I smoked later that made me slightly dizzy."

"Twenty dollars and three days in the cooler," snapped His Honor, "for driving while under the influence of a cigar."

Clifton Fadiman describes that elegant journalist, Lucius Beebe, as a man with a truly terrible temper, but admits magnanimously that L. B. "wears no man's choler but his own."

During half-time, a gal was surprised to discover a monkey selling potato chips at a stadium gate. "How come they select a monkey to do that?" she demanded. "It figures," explained the monkey. "I'm a chip monk."

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M.D.
Naturally he can't hear! He's wearing ear plugs!

Wax plugs close ear canals, silencing sound. But ten minutes with the family doctor's trusty ear syringe washes away this deafness.

At the bottom of the ear canal, sound vibrations have to travel through the drum, across a delicate bony bridge, and pierce an inner ear drum. Here, sound vibrations change into noisy nerve signals.

Trouble anywhere en route weakens and destroys hearing.

The air space around the bony bridge is almost sealed off from the outside world. Its only opening is a thin, long tube leading to the back of the nose.

Pressure, fluid, infection—anything that binds the delicate bony bridge—often softens incoming sound. Swollen adenoids, clogging the opening in back of the nose, quiet the noisy world of many children. New sound thunders in when adenoids are snipped out, or melted with radium or X-ray.

Young adults—especially women—may be plagued with sponge-like bone anchoring that delicate bony bridge. This "otosclerosis" runs in families. It creeps in, first stealing bass notes, later all hearing.

Special surgery can repair most otosclerosis damage. Silent sound starts ordinary sounds booming in, when supersonic vibrations—that human ears can't hear—loosen the anchored bony bridge.

Specialists can rarely repair trouble beyond the inner ear drum. But crippled hearing needn't cripple your life.

With lip reading and hand signals you hear with your eyes. Schools for hard-of-hearing youngsters dot the map. Pre-schoolers can learn at home with a correspondence course from the Tracey Clinic in Los Angeles.

You can hurdle that "all of silence and earn a college degree. Gallaudet College, in Washington D. C., graduates an annual crop of hard-of-hearing students who go to brilliant careers.

Deaf? Yes. Dumb? Not in the least!

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

Youth and Age

By George Sokolsky

All over the world, people are living longer and youth is pushing harder. The younger people want their place in the sun and the older people do not want to be relegated to porch-sitting. In fact, for most of our population, there are no porches; there are no rockers; in chain stores, there are no cracker barrels; and in the big cities, even the barber shops have been taken by young and pulchritudinous ladies who hold one's hand and with whom one more easily converses than with the barber.

The very young talk about their rights. No one takes them to the woodshed to be spanked. Who has a woodshed? And what parent knows how to spank so that it hurts him more than it hurts the boy?

One of the major rights of the very young, until they get bored with it, is to watch television. Perhaps one reason that our children do not know how to spell, or read, or write is because they watch television while they do their home-work and as everybody is passed to prevent him from becoming a juvenile delinquent, it is not essential to know too much to get on.

Joseph C. Brochek of San Diego has written to me learnedly on the wickedness of brats. He apparently knows the youngsters well, having suffered much at their hands. He says:

"Your insipid thought that parents could control what they want shown by throwing a coin in the slot is suggestive of the complete lack of control by parents over even the most trivial actions of their offspring. Did your old man ever have to lock himself in the bathroom so the kids would not muzzle in on his can of beer? Our parents' popular after-supper sport being a game of 66 (cards), did that divert me from home work, violin practice, or other tedious obligations for my parents' feeding and clothing me? And as for the little darlings being by pay viewing deprived from the older folks' objective in program selection, they would, in my opinion, merely say: 'Move over dad, I can't see from here! Or, should mom or dad have the temerity to demand that they remove themselves from the premises, the kids probably, their pockets being well-lined with 'allowance,' make up T.V. parties and gang up somewhere to collectively feed the 'Tellyes' as they now do the Juke Boxes.

And we, who prefer to recall the days of our youth by viewing Westerns and similar 'He-man shows' instead (of) the maudlin moans, groans and whining of so-called singers, could sit around and comfort ourselves with knitting."

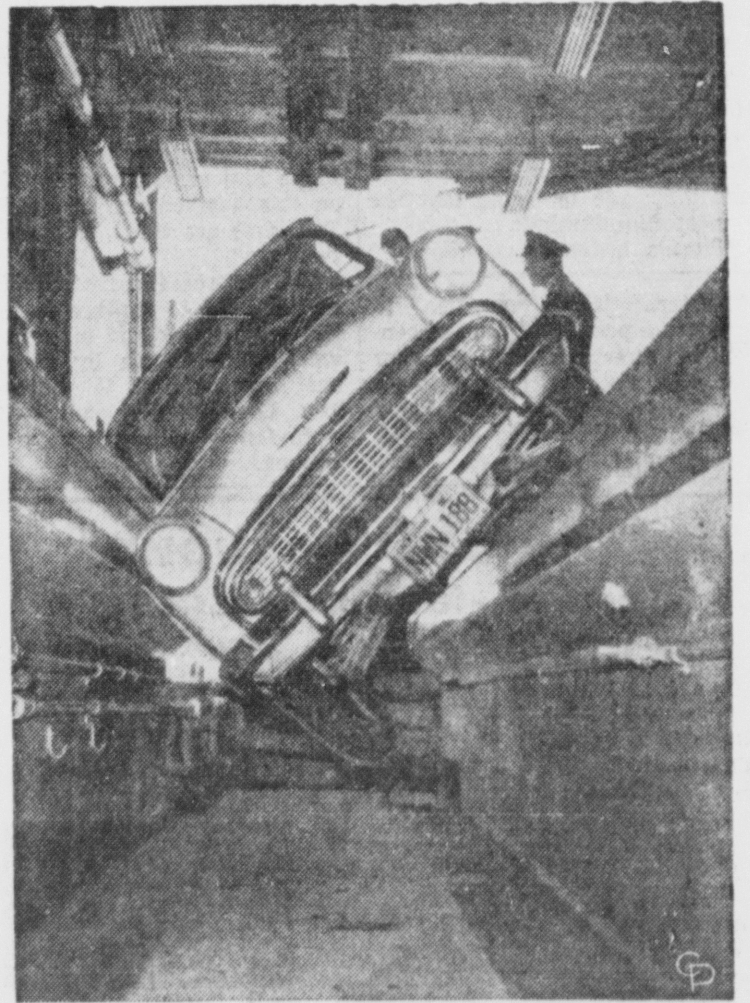

Well said, of course. But the solution is a television in every room. The girls no longer need to watch mother cook. They can get the pre-fabricated stuff which is so well-packaged that it makes the refrigerator look like the decorations on a Christmas tree. Nobody needed to know how to make a cake; she can buy a mix. And to tell the truth, if one has no memory of what grandmother's cakes were like, the mix actually tastes better than sweetie's efforts which somehow come out wrong so often.

Brother Brochek is too optimistic.

tic about what the youngsters would do if they were not permitted to watch murders at home. The kids would not spend their allowances on television parties, figuring that the stuff is OK if free but is not to be paid for. They might go back to the good old days of the movies where one could sit in Stygian darkness in palatial surroundings and neck to one's heart's content without parental supervision. Is necking worse than murder?

The moral of my tale is really what Brochek is writing about. Parents should control children until the children can control themselves, which may be never in such a world as ours. Allen Cook, development engineer at the DuPont plant, will show movies and speak on fallout shelters and the danger of fallout at today's meeting of the Ashville PTA. The public is invited to attend this vital meeting.

Four members of the Ashville Senior Girl Scout Troop placed in the Dolly Derby, sponsored by the Goodwill Industries with the cooperation of the Trefoil Girl Scout Council. More than 800 dolls were entered in the contest.

Receiving second place awards were Lucy Ann Vause, Terry Trimble and Margie Lipps. A third place award went to Glenda Reinhold.

The dolls will be sold by the Goodwill Industries. Proceeds will be used to supplement the wages of severely handicapped people and to assist in training programs provided the Goodwill Industries.

The Ashville Elementary School vocal music department, under the direction of Everett Mehrley, will present an annual Thanksgiving program No. 22 at 1 p. m. in the school auditorium. The public is invited. Following the program school will be dismissed at 2:30 p. m. for the Thanksgiving Holidays.

THE Ashville Riding Club will sponsor a round and square dance Saturday in the Ashville High School auditorium beginning at 8:30 p. m. Music will be provided by Wilson's Orchestra.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dietz of Akron spent several days this week visiting with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. William Trimble.

The Bastian Funeral Home made the following ambulance runs this past week: Nov. 7 — removed Nellie Wolfe to Mercy Hospital; Nov. 12 — removed Carole Queen, Route 1, Orient, to Mercy Hospital.

Dr. and Mrs. Harold Bowers have returned home after spending two weeks in Puerto Rico on both a business and pleasure trip.

The Ashville Welfare Guild will hold a pie and soup sale Friday from 11 a. m. to 3 p. m. at the Ashville Methodist Church. Patrons are requested to bring their own containers for the soup.

Proceeds from this sale will be used by the Guild to help worthy families in the community.

THE Ashville Methodist Fellowship Class will sponsor a skating party Friday from 7 to 10:30 p. m. at the Amanda Skating Rink. Invitations have been extended to the Hedges Chapel and South Bloomfield Methodist Churches. All youth of the churches are urged to attend.

Persons desiring transportation may call Mrs. Wade Shreve.

Five Armour Co. district grocery products division employees won weeklong, expenses-paid trips to Europe for themselves and wives in a recent sales event.

One of the winners is a former graduate of Ashville High School, Paul B. Nance of Harpster. He is the son of Mrs. Elizabeth Nance of South Bloomfield. They will leave Sunday by plane.

The Mary-Martha Circle of the First English Lutheran Church was to meet today at the home of Mrs. Curtis Cromley, 250 E. Main St. at 1:30 p. m.

More than 50 persons enjoyed the first Sunday Evening Family Fellowship Program sponsored by the Ashville Methodist Church. A varied program of family worship, singing, and recreation made up the evening. The singing was under the direction of Ned Rader with Kathy Scout, accompanying and Mrs. Stella Morrison directing the recreation.

Cake, coffee and milk was served.

MARY PIERCE, local beauty operator, attended the annual Ohio Cosmetologist Association Convention held Saturday, Sunday and Monday at the Deshler Hilton Hotel in Columbus. Classes and demonstrations showing the latest trend of the Air-Lift, which gives an appearance of the new tall look, were the main features of the program.

Mrs. Pierce judged a hair styling contest, sponsored by the Newark Chapter of the Hairdresser's Guild of Ohio, at Newark this past Tuesday evening.

The Ashville Methodist and Hedges Chapel Methodist Churches will hold their annual combined Thanksgiving Service in the Hedges Chapel Church Nov. 22 at 8 p. m.

A combined choir from the two churches will furnish the music. The Rev. William Carter will deliver the message.

The Christ's Growing Circle class of the Hedges Chapel Methodist Church will meet Saturday evening at 8 p. m. in the home of Max Cormany, 145 Maple St., Ashville.

An every-member canvas will be conducted Sunday by the Ashville Methodist Church. Members will call at each home of members of the church.

The Ashville and Hedges Chapel Methodist Churches Youth Fellowship groups will meet Sunday evening with the Nelsonville Methodist Youth Fellowship. The groups will leave from their respective churches at 5 p. m.

The Ashville Garden Club met in the home of Mrs. Paul Cromley on Nov. 9 with 15 members answering roll call.

Mrs. Richard Hedges read the collect which was followed by the pledge to the flag, led by Miss Florence Brown.

The secretary read a letter from Mrs. Page Boyer, regional director of Region 9 of the Ohio Association of Garden Clubs.

Miss Kathryn Decker, president, welcomed Mrs. John Backstrom, as a new member. Plans were discussed for a council meeting at Derby Nov. 27. Four accredited flower show judges will put on the program.

PLANS were discussed also for the Christmas Tea Dec. 14 at 8 p. m. at the home of Misses Kathryn and Frances Decker.

At the conclusion of the business, Mrs. Decker turned the meeting over to Mrs. Eugene Borror, program chairman. Members were asked to bring corsages, gift wrappings or home decorations and display their talents.

Mrs. Borror also presented Mrs. C. E. Jahaffey who gave a reading on "Thanksgiving Thoughts".

The newly organized Ashville Kiwanis Club held its Charter Night and Banquet Nov. 7 in the Ashville High School Auditorium.

A turkey dinner was prepared and served by the Ashville Pythian Lodge. The "Metta-Larks", a well known local ladies quartet, sang several selections. Many members and guests were present from Circleville Kiwanis, sponsor of the newly activated group.

Other officers of the group are Benis Lutz, first vice president; Franklin Glitt, second vice president; John Morgan, treasurer and Charles Morrison, secretary. Directors are Robert Sliwinski, Howard Hosler, Donald Collins, C. D. Kraft, and John Little.

Committees appointed for the Charter Night were: Virgil Cress and Robert Bausum, co-chairmen; Paul Smallwood and Charles Ransom, publicity; Harold Anderson and Roland Featheringham, house; William Ammer and Donald Collins, program; and Dwight Steele and Robert Sliwinski, attendance.

Counterfeit Bills Flood Gotham Area

NEW YORK (AP)—A flood of counterfeit $10 bills has hit this shopping mecca at a time when merchants are preparing for their busiest period—the Christmas buying season.

U.S. Atty. Robert M. Morgenthau said 263 of the bills turned up here last week.

The bogus $10 bills also have been seized by federal agents in San Francisco, Philadelphia, Richmond, Va., and Atlanta, Ga., Morgenthau disclosed Tuesday.

But he added that the distribution is centered in New York and "the ring behind it all is big and well organized."

In Washington, James J. Rowley, chief of the Secret Service, said the New York activity has centered around bogus $10s and $20s.

Authorities said there are three ways to detect the counterfeit $10 bills:

1. The portrait of Alexander Hamilton is "muddy," lacking the shading and detail lines of genuine bills.
2. The Treasury seal is slightly blurred.
3. The face plate numbers in the lower right hand corner of the counterfeits so far include: E328, E32, E3, E28, E2, 13, 18, and F3.

941 Ohio Men Slated For December Draft

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio will furnish 941 men under a reduced national and state induction call for December, it was announced Wednesday. Selective Service headquarters said Ohio furnished 1,100 men under the November call, 1,165 in October and 1,515 in September.

County quotas are to be announced later. The Defense Department in Washington announced that 16,000 would be inducted for Army service next month.

winski, Gene Von Ins, Donald Ween, William Wharton and Ronald Wilson.

The club meets each Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. at the Bastian Coffee Shop. Kiwanis International consists of more than 260,000 business and professional men in 4,800 U.S. and Canadian Clubs. Community service is their prime objective.

Thanksgiving Eve Services will be held at the Evangelical United Brethren Church Nov. 22 at 7:30 p. m. The Rev. John Morgan will conduct the service.

The Ashville-Harrison Volunteer Fire Department was called Nov. 9 at 5:50 p. m. to the Bowers Poultry Farm to extinguish a blaze in a feed bunk. On Nov. 11 firemen were summoned to the Sam Scotchorn farm at 4:20 p. m. to extinguish a blaze in a tractor owned by Gail Waidelich. Loss was set at $200.

Views on Television-Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—David Levy, former NBC vice president in charge of television programming who looked into place the network's popular schedule for this season, took a critical look this week at the industry he's left behind.

In a speech before students of the University of Pennsylvania's school of communications, Levy particularly condemned TV's tendency to follow "trends" in program content.

Levy expressed hope that, just because NBC's new "Dr. Kildare" and ABC's new "Ben Casey"—both series concerned with dedicated young doctors in large hospitals—have been proved hits,

Lausche Seeks New Curbs on Air Carriers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, has opened a drive to tighten Federal Aviation Agency regulations governing supplemental air carriers.

Referring to the Richmond, Va., plane crash that killed 74 Army recruits, Lausche has asked for detailed information on FAA regulations covering such flights.

In a letter to FAA Administrator Najeeb Halaby, the senator commented on reports that two engines of the Imperial Airlines plane went dead before the crash.

Lausche asked, "What legislative action is necessary to ensure that the supplemental carriers will exercise the extraordinary care needed for the protection of the public in the selection of air-worthy craft and . . . to ensure that it is preserved in an air-worthy condition."

Lausche also asked if there are any laws or regulations requiring supplemental carriers to carry liability insurance or show "a fiscal responsibility to meet claims for damages."

Lausche referred to the Arctic Pacific Airlines crash in Toledo, Ohio, last fall which killed 22 persons, 16 of whom were California Polytechnic College football players. Lausche said the airline had no assets to meet damage claims and no liability insurance.

The Independent Airlines Association has said at least $3,225,000 in insurance was carried on the 74 Army recruits who died in the Richmond crash last Wednesday night, but that survivors will have to file damage suits.

Ohio Prof Surprised By Students

FORT CAMPBELL, Ky. (AP)—A college instructor, recalled to active duty with the Army as an armorer, said today he was shocked and surprised his former students want him released.

"I knew nothing about it until the battalion commander told me what was going on," said Spec. 4th Class Allen Boyd Bogarad.

"He declined comment on reports students and faculty members at Wittenberg University plan to petition President Kennedy for help.

The petitions, expected to be circulated on the campus of the Springfield, Ohio, school Thursday quote a recent speech in which Kennedy said: "Our progress as a nation can be no swifter than our progress in education."

Bogarad, who holds bachelor and master degrees and was working on his doctorate when recalled to duty Oct. 15, said "all I know is that the country needs strengthening."

He taught industrial communications and management development at Wittenberg, but Dean John N. Stauffer said the school has been unable to find a suitable replacement.

Officials at Ft. Campbell said the 26-year-old educator also will be utilized as a clerk-typist in the Virginia National Guard Artillery Battery to which he is assigned.

"There are all sorts of talented men in Bogarad's outfit," officials explained. "We are in the process of inventing the group to find specialists and to utilize them to the Army's advantage."

Allen Cook, development engineer at the DuPont plant, will show movies and speak on fallout shelters and the danger of fallout at today's meeting of the Ashville PTA. The public is invited to attend this vital meeting.

Four members of the Ashville Senior Girl Scout Troop placed in the Dolly Derby, sponsored by the Goodwill Industries with the cooperation of the Trefoil Girl Scout Council. More than 800 dolls were entered in the contest.

Receiving second place awards were Lucy Ann Vause, Terry Trimble and Margie Lipps. A third place award went to Glenda Reinhold.

The dolls will be sold by the Goodwill Industries. Proceeds will be used to supplement the wages of severely handicapped people and to assist in training programs provided the Goodwill Industries.

The Ashville Elementary School vocal music department, under the direction of Everett Mehrey, will present an annual Thanksgiving program No. 22 at 1 p. m. in the school auditorium. The public is invited. Following the program school will be dismissed at 2:30 p. m. for the Thanksgiving Holidays.

THE Ashville Riding Club will sponsor a round and square dance Saturday in the Ashville High School auditorium beginning at 8:30 p. m. Music will be provided by Wilson's Orchestra.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dietz of Akron spent several days this week visiting with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. William Trimble.

The Bastian Funeral Home made the following ambulance runs this past week: Nov. 7 — removed Nellie Wolfe to Mercy Hospital; Nov. 12 — removed Carole Queen, Route 1, Orient, to Mercy Hospital.

Dr. and Mrs. Harold Bowers have returned home after spending two weeks in Puerto Rico on both a business and pleasure trip.

The Ashville Welfare Guild will hold a pie and soup sale Friday from 11 a. m. to 3 p. m. at the Ashville Methodist Church. Patrons are requested to bring their own containers for the soup.

Proceeds from this sale will be used by the Guild to help worthy families in the community.

THE Ashville Methodist Fellowship Class will sponsor a skating party Friday from 7 to 10:30 p. m. at the Amanda Skating Rink. Invitations have been extended to the Hedges Chapel and South Bloomfield Methodist Churches. All youth of the churches are urged to attend.

Persons desiring transportation may call Mrs. Wade Shreve.

Five Armour Co. district grocery products division employees won weeklong, expenses-paid trips to Europe for themselves and wives in a recent sales event.

One of the winners is a former graduate of Ashville High School, Paul B. Nance of Harpster. He is the son of Mrs. Elizabeth Nance of South Bloomfield. They will leave Sunday by plane.

The Mary-Martha Circle of the First English Lutheran Church was to meet today at the home of Mrs. Curtis Cromley, 250 E. Main St. at 1:30 p. m.

More than 50 persons enjoyed the first Sunday Evening Family Fellowship Program sponsored by the Ashville Methodist Church. A varied program of family worship, singing, and recreation made up the evening. The singing was under the direction of Ned Rader with Kathy Scott, accompanying and Mrs. Stella Morrison directing the recreation.

Cake, coffee and milk was served.

MARY PIERCE, local beauty operator, attended the annual Ohio Cosmetologist Association Convention held Saturday, Sunday and Monday at the Deshler Hilton Hotel in Columbus. Classes and demonstrations showing the latest trend of the Air-Lift, which gives an appearance of the new tall look, were the main features of the program.

Mrs. Pierce judged a hair styling contest, sponsored by the Newark Chapter of the Hairdresser's Guild of Ohio, at Newark this past Tuesday evening.

The Ashville Methodist and Hedges Chapel Methodist Churches will hold their annual combined Thanksgiving Service in the Hedges Chapel Church Nov. 22 at 8 p. m.

A combined choir from the two churches will furnish the music. The Rev. William Carter will deliver the message.

The Christ's Growing Circle class of the Hedges Chapel Methodist Church will meet Saturday evening at 8 p. m. in the home of Max Cormany, 145 Maple St., Ashville.

An every-member canvas will be conducted Sunday by the Ashville Methodist Church. Members will call at each home of members of the church.

The Ashville and Hedges Chapel Methodist Churches Youth Fellowship groups will meet Sunday evening with the Nelsonville Methodist Youth Fellowship. The groups will leave from their respective churches at 5 p. m.

The Ashville Garden Club met in the home of Mrs. Paul Cromley on Nov. 9 with 15 members answering roll call.

Mrs. Richard Hedges read the collect which was followed by the pledge to the flag, led by Miss Florence Brown.

The secretary read a letter from Mrs. Page Boyer, regional director of Region 9 of the Ohio Association of Garden Clubs.

Miss Kathryn Decker, president, welcomed Mrs. John Backstrom, as a new member. Plans were discussed for a Council meeting at Derby Nov. 27. Four accredited flower show judges will put on the program.

PLANS were discussed also for the Christmas Tea Dec. 14 at 8 p. m. at the home of Misses Kathryn and Frances Decker.

At the conclusion of the business, Mrs. Decker turned the meeting over to Mrs. Eugene Borror, program chairman. Members were asked to bring corsages, gift wrappings or home decorations and display their talents.

Mrs. Borror also presented Mrs. C. E. Jahaffey who gave a reading on "Thanksgiving Thoughts".

The newly organized Ashville Kiwanis Club held its Charter Night and Banquet Nov. 7 in the Ashville High School Auditorium.

A turkey dinner was prepared and served by the Ashville Pythian Lodge. The "Metta-Larks", a well known local ladies quartet, sang several selections. Many members and guests were present from Circleville Kiwanis, sponsor of the newly activated group.

Other officers of the group are Benis Lutz, first vice president; Franklin Glitt, second vice president; John Morgan, treasurer and Charles Morrison, secretary. Directors are Robert Sliwinski, Howard Hosler, Donald Collins, C. D. Kraft, and John Little.

Counterfeit Bills Flood Gotham Area

NEW YORK (AP)—A flood of counterfeit $10 bills has hit this shopping mecca at a time when merchants are preparing for their busiest period—the Christmas buying season.

U.S. Atty. Robert M. Morgenthau said 263 of the bills turned up here last week.

The bogus $10 bills also have been seized by federal agents in San Francisco, Philadelphia, Richmond, Va., and Atlanta, Ga., Morgenthau disclosed Tuesday.

But he added that the distribution is centered in New York and "the ring behind it all is big and well organized."

In Washington, James J. Rowley, chief of the Secret Service, said the New York activity has centered around bogus $10s and $20s.

Authorities said there are three ways to detect the counterfeit $10 bills:

1. The portrait of Alexander Hamilton is "muddy," lacking the shading and detail lines of genuine bills.

2. The Treasury seal is slightly blurred.

3. The face plate numbers in the lower right hand corner of the counterfeits so far include: E328, E32, E3, E28, E2, 13, 18, and F3.

941 Ohio Men Slated For December Draft

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio will furnish 941 men under a reduced national and state induction call for December, it was announced Wednesday. Selective Service headquarters said Ohio furnished 1,100 men under the November call, 1,165 in October and 1,515 in September.

County quotas are to be announced later. The Defense Department in Washington announced that 16,000 would be inducted for Army service next month.

winski, Gene Von Ins, Donald Ween, William Wharton and Ronald Wilson.

The club meets each Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. at the Bastian Coffee Shop. Kiwanis International consists of more than 250,000 business and professional men in 4,800 U.S. and Canadian Clubs. Community service is their prime objective.

Thanksgiving Eve Services will be held at the Evangelical United Brethren Church Nov. 22 at 7:30 p. m. The Rev. John Morgan will conduct the service.

The Ashville-Harrison Volunteer Fire Department was called Nov. 9 at 5:50 p. m. to the Bowers Poultry Farm to extinguish a blaze in a feed bunk. On Nov. 11 firemen were summoned to the Sam Scothorn farm at 4:20 p. m. to extinguish a blaze in a tractor owned by Gail Waidelich. Loss was set at $200.

Views on Television-Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—David Levy, former NBC vice president in charge of television programming who looked into place the network's popular schedule for this season, took a critical look this week at the industry he's left behind.

In a speech before students of the University of Pennsylvania's school of communications, Levy particularly condemned TV's tendency to follow "trends" in program content.

Levy expressed hope that, just because NBC's new "Dr. Kildare" and ABC's new "Ben Casey" both series concerned with dedicated young doctors in large hospitals—have been proved hits, that the networks would refrain from following them up with a flood of series about young dentists, young psychiatrists or young ophthalmologists.

He could not have been more adroit in pinpointing one of TV's big troubles.

ABC demonstrated his theme when the network's new audience participation show, "Yours for a Song" had its evening premiere Tuesday.

The new show has so many obvious ancestors—"Stop the Music," "Name That Tune" among them—that it had a familiar look immediately. But the big, "new" item is that when the contestants have finished trying to supply missing lyrics for old, awfully well-known songs, the studio audience joins in and sings the last chorus. And so do, it is presumed, the folks at home, because the words are flashed on the screen. Remind you of anything?

It must have taken a lot of creative thought to come up with a "Sing Along" device that might pick up some of Mitch Millers success and high audience ratings.

"Yours for a Song" is a shabby, dull show in spite of all the borrowing from successful ones—and because it is so imitative and contrived it deserves a short life.

Radioactive Fuel Slated for U.S. Test

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission plans a series of four experiments with radioactive fuel capsules on the southern Nevada test site during the next few weeks.

Some nuclear particles will be released, the AEC said Tuesday, but no harmful radiation is expected beyond the test site, 65 miles north of Las Vegas.

The test will involve the ability of radioisotopic fuel capsules to survive rocket launching accidents landing impacts and re-entry heat.

Ohio Prof Surprised By Students

FORT CAMPBELL, Ky. (AP)—A college instructor, recalled to active duty with the Army as an armorer, said today he was shocked and surprised his former students want him released.

"I knew nothing about it until the battalion commander told me what was going on," said Spec. 4th Class Allen Boyd Bogard.

"He declined comment on reports students and faculty members at Wittenberg University plan to petition President Kennedy for help.

The petitions, expected to be circulated on the campus of the Springfield, Ohio, school Thursday quote a recent speech in which Kennedy said: "Our progress as a nation can be no swifter than our progress in education."

Bogard, who holds bachelor and master degrees and was working on his doctorate when recalled to duty Oct. 15, said "all I know is that the country needs strengthening."

He taught industrial communications and management development at Wittenberg, but Dean John N. Stauffer said the school has been unable to find a suitable replacement.

Officials at Ft. Campbell said the 26-year-old educator also will be utilized as a clerk-typist in the Virginia National Guard Artillery Battery to which he is assigned.

"There are all sorts of talented men in Bogard's outfit," officials explained. "We are in the process of inventing the group to find specialists and to utilize them to the Army's advantage."

Mrs. D. H. Watt Hosts Daughters of 1812 Meet

The Major John Boggs Chapter of the United States Daughters of 1812 recently met for a bi-monthly meeting in the home of Mrs. Donald H. Watt, 112½ N. Court St. Eleven members and two guests attended the meeting.

The meeting was opened in the ritualistic order of the chapter by the president, Mrs. Charles Pugsley. She was assisted by Mrs. Ora Ridenour, acting chaplain.

Mrs. C. E. Wright led the group in the salute to the flag.

Mrs. Charles Pugsley read an article on the topic "Great Men of America". She commented that these men became quite successful in business, but because of never learning how to live successfully, they were considered failures.

The group voted to send a Christmas gift of money to a scholarship student.

National defense literature, sent by the sixth congressional district representative, was distributed by Mrs. Donald H. Watt.

Mrs. B. T. Hedges, program chairman, introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Paul Johnson.

Mrs. Johnson highlighted her talk with a comparison of the Pilgrim Fathers' voyage to America and the current exploratory endeavors into outer space.

At the close of her talk, Mrs. Johnson was presented a gift from the chapter.

Mrs. Watt, assisted by Mrs. E. E. Wolfe, served a dessert course from a dining table decorated in an autumn theme.

Wool Contest Winners Are Announced

The wool dress contest for District No. 6, sponsored by the Wool Growers of Ohio, was held Saturday in Hillsboro.

Two Kingston girls, both students in Kingston High School, were contestants in the Junior Division. Rosemary Lyons, a senior, modeled a brown wool dress with gold belt and jewelry, matching purse and brown shoes. Beverly Coey, a sophomore, modeled a two-piece black wool dress with white pearl buttons and red accessories.

Rosemary was awarded a skirt length of Pendleton wool and Beverly received a compact.

The girls were accompanied by their instructor, Mrs. Harold Clifton.

The contest is conducted on a district, state, and national level to encourage the use of wool for home sewing.

The costumes are judged on the model's appearance and the quality of workmanship in the garment.

Scioto Chapel Ladies' Aid Plan Annual Holiday Tea

Mrs. Harold Fee presided at the recent meeting of the Scioto Chapel Ladies' Aid Society.

The opening hymn sung by the group was "Come Ye Thankful People".

Mrs. Weldon Hill opened the devotional period by leading a responsive reading, "Thanksgiving and Praise". "The Lord's Prayer" was repeated in unison by the group.

During the business session, plans were completed to hold the annual Thanksgiving Silver Tea at 2 p. m. Saturday in the Robtown EUB Church. Members will donate cookies and sandwiches.

A new slate of officers was elected to head the group during the coming year. These include Mrs. Harold Fee, president; Mrs. Charles Huston, vice president; Mrs. Ben Walker, treasurer; and Mrs. Howard Koch, secretary.

Mrs. Elzie Brooks, past president, was presented a gift set of jewelry by the Society in appreciation of her ten-years service for the group.

Mrs. Brooks opened the program period by reading Psalm 67. Mrs. William Nichols gave two readings, "Thanksgiving" and "Are We Really Thankful?" President Kennedy's "Thanksgiving Proclamation" was read by Mrs. Robert Drummond and Mrs. John Morgan sang "Count Your Blessings".

To conclude the program, Mrs. Brooks spoke concerning her work as a teacher in the Exceptional (Retarded) Children's School. She explained the school's teaching methods and displayed various crafts made by the children.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. John Eitel, Mrs. Howard Younkin, Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Brooks.

Westminster Bible Class Meet Features Thanksgiving

The Westminster Bible Class of the Presbyterian Church recently met in the home of Mrs. Charles Smith. Eighteen members and two guests were present for the meeting.

Mrs. Florence Baker opened the meeting by reading an article on Armistice Day.

Mrs. S. M. Cryder conducted the devotional period by reading a scripture passage from Mark 11:24. Mrs. Smith presided for the business session.

The class voted to send Thanksgiving greeting cards to shut-in members of the church.

Class members were requested to assist in preparing Christmas Seals for distribution.

A nominating committee was named to prepare a new slate of class officers for the coming year.

Mrs. S. M. Cryder, program leader, read selections from the Psalms of praise and thanksgiving which she considered significant of the togetherness of mankind and Thanksgiving. To highlight her program, she read an article describing a family dinner typical to the era of some 38-years-ago. "At that time," she explained, "the world was in confusion because of the possibility of a second World War. The present approach to Thanksgiving finds mankind in the same state of affairs".

To conclude her talk, Mrs. Cryder compared Thanksgiving dinners served a generation ago to those served two generations earlier.

The next meeting of the class will feature the annual Christmas party and gift exchange scheduled for Tuesday, Dec. 5, in the home of Mrs. G. G. Campbell, 141 W. Franklin St.

Savory sandwich spread: drained sardines mashed with mayonnaise, pickle relish and onion. Good on whole-wheat bread.

Class members were requested to assist in preparing Christmas Seals for distribution.

A nominating committee was named to prepare a new slate of class officers for the coming year.

Mrs. S. M. Cryder, program leader, read selections from the Psalms of praise and thanksgiving which she considered significant of the togetherness of mankind and Thanksgiving. To highlight her program, she read an article describing a family dinner typical of the era of some 38-years-ago. "At that time," she explained, "the world was in confusion because of the possibility of a second World War. The present approach to Thanksgiving finds mankind in the same state of affairs".

To conclude her talk, Mrs. Cryder compared Thanksgiving dinners served a generation ago to those served two generations earlier.

The next meeting of the class will feature the annual Christmas party and gift exchange scheduled for Tuesday, Dec. 5, in the home of Mrs. G. G. Campbell, 141 W. Franklin St.

Savory sandwich spread: drained sardines mashed with mayonnaise, pickle relish and onion. Good on whole-wheat bread.

Cook leftover slices of roast beef in a little butter in a skillet; add drained canned mushrooms and sour cream; mix well and serve with buckwheat grits. Call the dish Beef Stroganoff.

Wool Contest Winners Are Announced

The wool dress contest for District No. 6, sponsored by the Wool Growers of Ohio, was held Saturday in Hillsboro.

Two Kingston girls, both students in Kingston High School, were contestants in the Junior Division. Rosemary Lyons, a senior, modeled a brown wool dress with gold belt and jewelry, matching purse and brown shoes. Beverly Coey, a sophomore, modeled a two-piece black wool dress with white pearl buttons and red accessories.

Rosemary was awarded a skirt length of Pendleton wool and Beverly received a compact.

The girls were accompanied by their instructor, Mrs. Harold Clifton.

The contest is conducted on a district, state, and national level to encourage the use of wool for home sewing.

The costumes are judged on the model's appearance and the quality of workmanship in the garment.

Scioto Chapel Ladies' Aid Plan Annual Holiday Tea

Mrs. Harold Fee presided at the recent meeting of the Scioto Chapel Ladies' Aid Society.

The opening hymn sung by the group was "Come Ye Thankful People".

Mrs. Weldon Hill opened the devotional period by leading a responsive reading, "Thanksgiving and Praise". "The Lord's Prayer" was repeated in unison by the group.

During the business session, plans were completed to hold the annual Thanksgiving Silver Tea at 2 p. m. Saturday in the Robtown EUB Church. Members will donate cookies and sandwiches.

A new slate of officers was elected to head the group during the coming year. These include Mrs. Harold Fee, president; Mrs. Charles Huston, vice president; Mrs. Ben Walker, treasurer; and Mrs. Howard Koch, secretary.

Mrs. Elzie Brooks, past president, was presented a gift set of jewelry by the Society in appreciation of her ten-years service for the group.

Mrs. Brooks opened the program period by reading Psalm 67. Mrs. William Nichols gave two readings, "Thanksgiving" and "Are We Really Thankful?". President Kennedy's "Thanksgiving Proclamation" was read by Mrs. Robert Drummond and Mrs. John Morgan sang "Count Your Blessings".

To conclude the program, Mrs. Brooks spoke concerning her work as a teacher in the Exceptional (Retarded) Children's School. She explained the school's teaching methods and displayed various crafts made by the children.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. John Eitel, Mrs. Howard Younkin, Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Brooks.

Guild 36 Holds Meet

Berger Hospital Guild No. 36 met Wednesday in the home of Mrs. John Cockrell, 325 Fairview Ave. Thirteen members and one new member, Mrs. Phil Beard, were present.

During the business session, the guild discussed the project for the General Guild bazaar.

A travel gift was won by Kathleen Beard.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

A graham-cracker crust is elegant with finely chopped walnuts or pecans added.

Mrs. Denham Hosts Literature Group

The Literature Study Group of the AAUW met Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Enid Denham, 455 E. Franklin St.

Mrs. Edward Sward was leader of a discussion period concerning Irving Stone's book, "Love Is Eternal".

The next meeting of the group will be Jan. 9 in the home of Mrs. Edward Sward, 116 Reber Ave. Mrs. Enid Denham will conduct a discussion on Harry Golden's book, "For Two Cents Plain".

Personals

Dooley Plan Carried Out To Aid Blind

HONG KONG (AP)—American eye surgeons following up a project of the late Dr. Tom Dooley have given 50 near-blind refugees from Communist China a good chance of recovering their sight.

The favorable outlook was reported today by one of the team, Dr. Charles Iliff of Johns Hopkins University. He said that although the success of the operations may not be finally determined for months, most of the patients will be able to have "good vision."

Dr. Iliff, Dr. John Harry King of Georgetown University and Dr. John McLean of Cornell University were sent to Hong Kong by Medico, a private American medical aid group supported by public contributions. They have been demonstrating the latest techniques of cornea transplanting to local eye surgeons trying to treat thousands of blind refugees from Red China.

Dr. Dooley, medical hero of Laos, formulated the project before his death from cancer.

550 Foreign Students Studying at Ohio State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University has more international students than ever before this year—550 from 67 nations. This is about 54 above the total a year ago.

The total includes 83 women and 476 men. India is the country with the largest representation, 139, followed by the Republic of China, 40; Korea, 39; Canada, 36, and United Arab Republic, 33.

14 More Teamsters Vote To Leave Hoffa

CINCINNATI (AP) — Fourteen more former Teamsters Union members have changed their allegiance in National Labor Relations Board elections to the AFL-CIO Independent Dairy Employees Union. The unanimous vote Wednesday was by four employees of Mayfair Ice Cream Inc., Lockland, and 10 of the Sealtest Division, Middletown.

By Mrs. Charles W. Mills

Students from the elementary grades have planned an interesting program to highlight the pre-Thanksgiving PTO meeting next Tuesday in the school. Mrs. Donald Kempton, Mrs. Lowell Hammond, Mrs. John Williams, Mrs. Ulin McGee, Mrs. Alva Blankenship, Mrs. Fred McCoy, Mrs. Hoyt Martin, Mrs. Robert Woodward and Mrs. Oren Wiscup will be in charge of the social hour.

Members of the Atlanta WSCS will serve a turkey dinner at the Pickaway County Livestock Cooperative next Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Mont Drake had as their Sunday dinner guests Mr. and Mrs. John Drake and daughter, Yvonne, of Laurelville, Mrs. Gladys Mickey of Columbus and Mrs. Opal Drake and Charles Drake of New Holland.

Jake Justice, a representative of the Circleville Coca-Cola Bottling Co., is in Independence, Kan., this week on company business.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Speakman and daughter, Debbie, of Columbus visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ernell Speakman.

Mr. and Mrs. Carson Rank of Chillicothe were guests Wednesday afternoon of Mr. and Mrs. Mont Drake.

Mr. and Mrs. George LeValley and daughter, Susan, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. George LeValley Jr. and daughter, Sharon, of Columbus. During the afternoon the families visited Mr. and Mrs. James LeValley and sons, Dante and Tony, in Columbus.

Mrs. Charles Mills Jr. and children, Cinda and Joe, and Mrs. Delbert Haines and daughter, Debbie, of Washington C. H. and Mrs. Robert Conway visited Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Mills Sunday afternoon.

Dr. Stanley Jeffery, Methodist District superintendent, will be the featured speaker for the Men's Thanksgiving ladies night dinner at 7 p. m. Nov. 29 in the New Holland Methodist Church social rooms.

The dinner will include men's class members and wives and friends from both the New Holland and Atlanta churches.

Hours Listed By SS Office

The Chillicothe District Office of the Social Security Administration will be open from 6-9 p. m. Nov. 20 and 27.

E. H. Biedenholz, manager of the Chillicothe office, said these special evening hours are for the benefit of those persons who are past the age of 65, but still working. Many persons in this class may be entitled to some benefits for 1961 regardless of their earnings, because of recent liberalization of the retirement test by Congress.

In order not to lose any benefits which might be payable for this year, it will be necessary to file an application before Jan. 31, 1962. Whether such persons should file an application before this date depends on their total earnings for this year and the total family benefits to which they and their dependents would be eligible.

Any interested persons should be prepared to furnish a reasonably accurate estimate of their annual earnings during the past five years.

Woman Loses Voice: Gets $14 in Damages

LONDON (AP)—Three biscuit tins fell on Queenie Fory's head at the grocer's shop where she works. She lost her voice.

Later Mrs. Fory spilled a kettle of boiling water on her foot and her voice came back.

A court awarded her 5 pounds ($14—damages against the firm Tuesday for those lost hours of talking.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is one of those very nice times when, just because it's so quiet, you begin to hope that maybe if you don't look around the bogeyman will go away, although you know he won't.

Ever since the Soviet party congress began in mid-October Premier Khrushchev has been practically speechless on Berlin, which he had been building into a crisis for four months, except to say he was willing to wait a bit for a settlement.

This has truly baffled the Western Allies, although all it proves so far is that Khrushchev is such an excellent actor that he can puzzle his adversaries as much by silence as by speeches.

But he has luck on his side. The Allies seem no more ready now to sit down and discuss Berlin with him than they did last June when he began giving President Kennedy the biggest problem of his presidency by demanding a settlement.

And the reason they're not ready is that they're still not agreed, after all this time, on what to do next. Khrushchev can't lose anything by waiting. The more time the Allies have for thinking about him, the more they may disagree.

And the more they disagree the more their alliance may split, which is something he couldn't hope to achieve if he suddenly got so rough that he forced them together in self-defense.

It's not that the Allies haven't been thinking about him. They've been as busy running back and forth as the first shoppers inside a bargain basement when the doors opened. They're still doing it.

Just Wednesday the State Department announced the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain, France and West Germany will meet in Paris next month.

Germany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer meets here next week with President Kennedy and French President Charles de Gaulle is going to London to talk with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

But the basic difficulty of the Allies in dealing with Russia, which dominates East Germany and Eastern Europe, is how to keep a dream from getting lost in a reality without appearing to say goodbye to the dream.

Kennedy stated the problem in a paragraph—although he didn't present it as a problem at all—before he ever became president.

That was on Oct. 1, 1960, during the presidential campaign, in Chicago when he addressed a congress of Polish-Americans who, naturally, don't like to think Communist-run Poland is forever lost to communism.

Kennedy said: "We must never at the summit, in any treaty declaration, in our words or even in our minds, recognize the Soviet domination of Eastern Europe as permanent. We must never do it."

This statement was applauded but it didn't add anything to enlightenment on the question of how—short of war with Russia—the Soviets can be induced to loosen their grip on Eastern Europe.

Kennedy's predecessors, Presidents Truman and Eisenhower, didn't have the answer. And neither does he. What he was talking about at Chicago in 1960 was as much of a dream as it is now in 1961.

The reality is that the Russians hold Eastern Europe so completely and the Allies recognize this so thoroughly that they are not only not demanding Russia pull out but didn't even try to stop the walling off of East Berlin.

Yet somehow they feel they must keep the dream alive. Because of this, they must somehow find a way in reaching a settlement on Berlin to make concessions to the Russians on the city without seeming to make concessions on the rest of the area about which they are not prepared to do anything now or in the foreseeable future.

Big Sister Is Parents To 8 Kids

WARROAD, Minn. (AP)—Since September, Rita Foster, 20, has been mother and father to eight younger brothers and sisters. Their father died from cancer in September, a year almost to the day after cancer had taken the life of their mother. Rita stepped in to keep the family together.

Several relatives live in the Warroad community. Rita says, "I suppose we could have sent the kids to live with them. But that would have meant splitting them up, and I will not have that."

Her voice had the snap of authority as she told one of the younger children to hang up her coat, another to stop teasing her sister, a third to get off the table. "Sometimes they forget who's boss," she explained, "and I have to holler a little to remind them."

But when Denise and Deanne, the 4-year-old twins who still do not understand what happened to their parents, began to cry, she swept them into her arms to comfort them.

"I'm just trying to run this household the way mom or dad would have run it," she said.

The other children are Nancy, 17, and Michael, 15, her chief helpers Gloria, 14, Barbara, 12, Delores 11, and Roberta 9.

Hound Lives With Another Dog's Lung

ANN ARBOR Mich. (AP) — Homer, a sad-eyed hound, is a frisky dog five months after one of his lungs was replaced by a transplant and a research team thinks this may be a step closer to successful transplant of major organs.

One of Homer's lungs was replaced May 26 by a lung from another dog. For two weeks he received daily injections of methotrexate, a drug originally developed to fight cancer. He was very sick for a time, but recovered.

Doctors at the University of Michigan Medical Center believe methotrexate may have properties that prevent rejection of alien tissue.

Transplant of eye corneas, blood and bone fragments are fairly common, but transferring major organs is difficult because such tissues usually are rejected by the receiving body.

Dr. Paulette Szadaly, a University of Michigan veterinarian, says the five months Homer has lived may be a medical record.

The research dog is closely watched and has the services of his own physician, veterinarian and registered nurse.

Fallout Shelter Frauds Are Targets of Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department has asked state attorneys general to help keep fraudulent operators out of the business of selling and building fallout shelters.

Nathaniel E. Kossack, chief of the department's fraud section, said U.S. attorneys have been alerted to vigorously push all legal actions against fraudulent contractors in the business.

Big Sister Is Parents To 8 Kids

WARROAD, Minn. (AP)—Since September, Rita Foster, 20, has been mother and father to eight younger brothers and sisters.

Their father died from cancer in September, a year almost to the day after cancer had taken the life of their mother. Rita stepped in to keep the family together.

Several relatives live in the Warroad community. Rita says, "I suppose we could have sent the kids to live with them. But that would have meant splitting them up, and I will not have that."

Her voice had the snap of authority as she told one of the younger children to hang up her coat, another to stop teasing her sister, a third to get off the table.

"Sometimes they forget who's boss," she explained, "and I have to holler a little to remind them."

But when Denise and Deanne, the 4-year-old twins who still do not understand what happened to their parents, began to cry, she swept them into her arms to comfort them.

"I'm just trying to run this household the way mom or dad would have run it," she said.

The other children are Nancy, 17, and Michael, 15, her chief helpers Gloria, 14, Barbara, 12, Delores 11, and Roberta 9.

Hound Lives With Another Dog's Lung

ANN ARBOR Mich. (AP) — Homer, a sad-eyed hound, is a frisky dog five months after one of his lungs was replaced by a transplant and a research team thinks this may be a step closer to successful transplant of major organs.

One of Homer's lungs was replaced May 26 by a lung from another dog. For two weeks he received daily injections of methotrexate, a drug originally developed to fight cancer. He was very sick for a time, but recovered.

Doctors at the University of Michigan Medical Center believe methotrexate may have properties that prevent rejection of alien tissue.

Transplant of eye corneas, blood and bone fragments are fairly common, but transferring major organs is difficult because such tissues usually are rejected by the receiving body.

Dr. Paulette Szadly, a University of Michigan veterinarian, says the five months Homer has lived may be a medical record.

The research dog is closely watched and has the services of his own physician, veterinarian and registered nurse.

Fallout Shelter Frauds Are Targets of Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department has asked state attorneys general to help keep fraudulent operators out of the business of selling and building fallout shelters.

Nathaniel E. Kossack, chief of the department's fraud section, said U.S. attorneys have been alerted to vigorously push all legal actions against fraudulent contractors in the business.

Atlanta Survey Notes Changes In Community

By MRS. CHARLES MILLS

Atlanta is gradually taking on a new face — and if you look closely the change provides an indication of steady growth for the little Perry Twp. community in southwestern Pickaway County.

Most of the alterations are in residential properties, but the Atlanta Grain Co., only large employer in the village, continues to expand its operations, providing a sound economic base for growth.

A tour around the village's unnamed (since Atlanta is unincorporated and has no official governmental status) streets shows on one a new home being constructed by Mr. and Mrs. Welton Roberts on land purchased from heirs of the Willis family.

Immediately across from the Roberts residence is a lot purchased by Denver Underwood from Ward Dean. Underwood plans to place a house trailer on the property. The home he owned a few hundred feet from his trailer site is undergoing interior decoration. The new owners are Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Hawk.

NEARBY another new home, being built by Mr. and Mrs. Warren Hobbie, is nearing completion. Immediately adjacent, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fels have placed a fence around land reserved for their future home.

On what is commonly called Back St., at the edge of the town, a large basement is being dug for a home to be built by Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Hawk. Oliver Forsythe has transferred his house trailer to a corner lot. George E. Myers of Circleville has recently purchased the Everett Hoskins Sr. property on Route 277 just south of Atlanta. Future building plans are expected to be announced soon.

In all, Atlanta is taking on quite an impressive new face.

Cincinnati Grand Jury Hints of Indictments

CINCINNATI (AP) — A federal grand jury has indicated new indictments are near in a probe of numbers racket operations in Greater Cincinnati.

Only indictments returned so far are against two Cincinnati women charged with making false statements about their work at a former Newport, Ky. nightclub.

WATCH ON THE RHINO—Exchanging a bit of gossip at the London Zoo are a black rhinoceros (left) from northern Tanganyika and a rare white Rhino. Both look black because they had been rolling in the mud. There are only about 2,000 white rhinos left in the world. They live in southern Sudan.

Rocky Opposed To Any Ban on Nuclear Tests

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says the United States could jeopardize the safety of the free world by agreeing now to a ban on testing of nuclear weapons.

President Kennedy has said that any such agreement would have to be accompanied by safeguards to make certain there was no cheating.

The President has ordered that preparations be made for testing in the air in the event that studies of the Soviet Union's recent series of tests show that the military position of the United States has been endangered.

Rockefeller said Tuesday that existing detection systems to police any such ban are not foolproof and would take at least three years to install.

That period, he said in a statement, could be used by the Soviet Union to prepare for new tests "while we stand still for another three years."

Rockefeller urged American resumption of full-scale nuclear testing, saying he considers testing in the atmosphere a prime factor in giving America superiority over the combined manpower of the Soviet Union and Communist China.

The governor's statement came one day after the United States and Britain proposed that negotia-

Housewives who want to get an early start on their family's Thanksgiving dinner will find turkeys available at bargain levels in many supermarkets and neighborhood groceries this weekend.

Turkey prices are as much as 10 cents a pound under a year ago. Charges run as low as 27 cents a pound for 8 to 18 pound turkeys in the Chicago area and 29 cents for 18 pounds-plus around New York.

For this weekend, pork in a wide variety of cuts offers the greatest number of bargains.

Smoked hams seem to be the most popular item. Regional offerings include loin roast in the Northeast; chops, spare ribs and smoked butts in the Midwest; and picnics, sausage and bacon in the Southeast.

Beef specials are scattered, although round, sirloin and porterhouse steaks are featured in the Midwest and chuck and shoulder roasts in the Southeast.

Broiler-fryers are marked down in the Midwest and Southwest, while other poultry specials include baking hens in the Southeast and geese and duck in the Southwest. Fryers are marked up 1 to 2 cents a pound in California, but tions on a new test ban be resumed with the Soviet Union at Geneva later this month.

this is partly offset by 3-cent cuts in veal and calf in the Los Angeles area.

Eggs are 1 to 5 cents a dozen higher in the West and 2 to 4 cents higher in the East. Even so, they're 12 to 18 cents a dozen less expensive than a year ago in the New York area.

Cranberries and processed cranberry products are plentiful.

Best buys among vegetables are carrots, cauliflower, cabbage, corn, onions, potatoes, turnips, spinach, squash, celery, lettuce, sweet potatoes and tomatoes.

Fruit counters are well stocked with apples, oranges, grapefruit, and grapes.

Ohio Capitol Observes Its Century Mark

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State administrative officials and legislative leaders, in the words of Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, held a brief "rendezvous with history" Wednesday in the dedication of a plaque marking the 100th anniversary of the Ohio capitol.

The governor, at the close of the Statehouse and grounds as his dedicatory address, noted that the plaque lists the total cost of $1,359,121.45. "I doubt if we could excavate for the foundation at that price today," he told a crowd of several hundred, including a number of school children.

"I have a sense of a rendezvous with history today, because it was here that Abraham Lincoln spoke in 1861 and it was here he lay in state four years later on his last trip from Washington to Springfield, Ill.," DiSalle said.

"In the intervening years, Ohio sent 300,000 men into a bloody conflict because we had decided that a nation cannot live half slave and half free."

"Now we have come to even a greater crisis in which we have been forced to decide that the world cannot live half slave and half free."

The first area chosen for development by Peruvian leaders is east of Lima, the capital, across the mountains into the interior. There new farm and pastoral communities are to be created, new roads and railway links built and hydroelectric works installed.

U.S. Scientist, Wife Prefer Czech Life

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—The wife of University of Washington scientist Charles O. Junge said in Prague today "my husband and I would like to stay in Czechoslovakia for the rest of our lives."

Dr. Josephine Junge, reached in the Czechoslovak capital by telephone from Vienna, said she and her husband had written their families and the University of Washington "explaining why we want to live in this country."

Asked what their motives were for wanting to live in a Communist country, she said: "I don't have to answer this. It is all explained in the letters."

Junge is a fisheries scientist. His wife is a research pathologist.

University of Washington authorities said Junge was working on fish population studies in the Pacific and several other research projects, none of them confidential or secret.

The University of Washington dropped the Junges from the school's payroll after they failed to return from their European trip.

Injuries Fatal to Boy After Fall into Wagon

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) — John Frederick Watson, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Watson of York Twp., died Wednesday of a respiratory ailment which resulted when he fell into a wagon load of shelled corn two weeks ago.

The boy was partially buried in the corn when he fell into the wagon his father was loading on the Watson farm on Parker Road.

Sam Rayburn...

Rayburn achieved one wish concerning his death but failed in another.

"I want to die with my boots on and with my gavel in my hand," the venerable dean of 20th century politics told friends when he left Washington at the end of August for what was to be his final departure.

"They're going to have to carry me out of here, God willing. I love this house," he said.

Later, when illness ravaged his body, his associates quoted him as saying he wanted to return to this community, his hometown, to end his days among "those friends and neighbors who for so long have given me a love and loyalty unsurpassed in any annals."

He was brought to this town of 7,000 persons Oct. 31 from Baylor Hospital in Dallas, 75 miles south-east of here.

A diagnosis of cancer was made shortly after he entered Baylor Oct. 2 for a series of tests to determine what was causing a chronic back ailment.

The ailment, originally described by Rayburn as lumbago, forced him to abandon his post as boss of the House almost a month before the last session of Congress adjourned.

It was an unprecedented thing for "Mr. Sam" to do, and friends immediately suspected that Rayburn himself feared the worst.

The family would not permit doctors or associates to reveal whether Rayburn had been informed of the hopelessness of his illness.

At one point, when he had wasted away from 176 pounds to 130, he told a great-nephew, Robert Bartley Jr., 23, that "this is the damndest thing that ever got a hold of me."

Four days after he entered the hospital, doctors announced that he had incurable cancer of the lymph system, which roughly parallels the blood system throughout the body.

His condition took a sudden turn for the worse Oct. 11 when he contracted pneumonia. Doctors said at first he was unconscious, then said he was in a coma, a technical medical difference. Persons in a coma do not react to stimulus.

He revived the following day after use of antibiotics and special breathing aids.

The day after doctors reported cancer, his longtime personal friend and political protégé, Vice President Lyndon Johnson, flew to his bedside. After that, Johnson visited Rayburn as often as his national duties permitted.

President Kennedy flew 3,000 miles round trip for a 14-minute visit with Rayburn on Oct. 9. They talked about politics, said the President.

Then came Rayburn's old political enemy, former President Harry S. Truman, on Oct. 13.

"He told me where to get off just like he did when I was in the White House. I was so happy at the way he treated me," said Truman.

"Sam Rayburn means everything to me that one man can mean to another," said the former President.

During this period Rayburn became progressively worse as expected with his form of cancer. On Oct. 15 doctors said he "had some periods of confusion" and was weaker, but he rallied during the day.

Doctors finally were forced to stop therapy designed to prolong Rayburn's life because of the unwanted side effects of the treatment on a person so gravely ill.

Last Saturday, his doctor said Rayburn had only hours or days to live. He lapsed into increasingly long periods of semiconsciousness or unconsciousness.

Before returning to his Bonham farm for a rest, Rayburn arranged for McCormack to take over the speakership on a temporary basis. That act put McCormack in line for formal election as speaker when the House reconvenes Jan. 10, four days after what would have been Rayburn's 80th birthday.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. W. A. Thomas of Dallas and Mrs.

S. E. Bartley of Bonham, and his brother, Richard Rayburn of Bonham. They are the last of a family that once numbered 11 children.

A bachelor, Rayburn's only marriage was dissolved several months after it took place in 1927.

He detested Washington's social whirl of which he had to be a part and preferred to spend his leisure evenings in his homey rooms in a Washington apartment hotel.

There he would sit for hours with friends, nibbling at a steak and sipping bourbon in moderation while watching television. He was an avid boxing and wrestling fan. He loved good food and good drink and enjoyed sharing it with his intimates.

Rayburn considered the fancy victuals served at most Washington social affairs as "stuff for the birds."

Friends suspected that Rayburn would have been a good, if doting father. He loved children, especially boys.

"God," he once confided to a friend, "what I would give for a tow-headed boy to take fishing."

Fishing was his favorite form of relaxation. He would go anywhere the fish were reported biting. To him, landing a scrappy bass was an accomplishment.

He was sensitive about two things, his lack of hair and his ill-starred marriage. He often accused photographers of focusing cameras in such a way as to emphasize his complete baldness.

He wouldn't discuss his marriage to Miss Metze Jones of Valley View, Tex., a sister of former Rep. Marvin Jones of Texas. They married on Oct. 15, 1927, and several months later the marriage was dissolved. She now is Mrs. Jeff Nelly of Amarillo, Tex.

Although a God-fearing man and a respecter of all religions, Rayburn did not publicly embrace any religion until he was 74 years old. At that age he was baptized into the Tioja, Tex., Primitive Baptist Church.

In a private hideaway in the Capitol, Rayburn spent many so-called hours with his intimates. Known as the "Board of Education," the hideout was a gathering place for a select group of friends at the close of almost every daily session of the House.

Discussions covered a wide range of subjects—politics, family matters, sports, current events, legislative strategy. Harry S. Truman was enjoying a social drink there late in the afternoon of April 12, 1945, when he received word that President Franklin D. Roosevelt had died.

Rayburn enjoyed so-called "shaggy dog" stories but didn't like jokes "that reflect on womanhood."

Rayburn's down-to-earth political philosophy could be summed up this way:

"In politics you have to know how the people feel and what they are thinking. If you don't feel what you can't see, you are dead. You have to be fair. You have to have vision. You have to learn to give and take. You must compromise when necessary. You have to work hard and keep in touch with your people. You have to have faith in the people because they are good and fair. Having good, common sense isn't enough; you have to exercise it."

It was this philosophy which made Rayburn's name synonymous with American politics and helped him scribe a lasting page in congressional history.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

It's Another Country!

DEAR ABBY: I am a college junior and my roommate is a guy from Texas. He keeps a shoe box filled with plain, ordinary dirt under his bed. Nobody is allowed to move it because it is TEXAS dirt. Do you think this guy is all there?

NOT FROM TEXAS
DEAR NOT: Of course he is. It doesn't matter if he's got dirt UNDER him or OVER him, once a Texan—always a Texan.

DEAR ABBY: Every girl needs someone to talk to, but I am afraid I've been talking to the wrong person. She is my aunt. She is almost 50, and has never been married. She claims all men are no good, and has drummed that idea into my head ever since I can remember. I idolize my aunt, and have grown up believing everything she has told me. I am 25 and not married, although I have been called "beautiful," and I am constantly being asked out.

My aunt made me promise I wouldn't date a man until she met him. I kept that promise. I realize now she has found fault with every man who showed an interest in me. I recently met a man I could love. I broke my promise, and have been seeing him. I am afraid to introduce him to my aunt because I know she'll tear him down like she did the others. Should I introduce him and clear my conscience, or not?

MIND OF MY OWN
DEAR MIND: Your aunt sounds like a player who never made the team, but is right in there intercepting passes. By all means, introduce him to your aunt. But tell her how you feel about him and ask her not to blow the whistle on this one until she has seen him in action.

DEAR ABBY: Someone who is soon to be in our family is badly of longevity—he served in the House more than 48 consecutive years and was its speaker more than twice as long as the previous record-holder, Henry Clay. He left his imprint on far-reaching legislation. The Rural Electrification Administration, the rural highway program, the Securities and Exchange Act, the Federal Communications Act, and antitrust laws were among his legislative children.

4-Point Agriculture Plan Is Offered by Farm Bureau

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A four point program which Ohio farm leaders feel will readjust farming was endorsed by the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation Wednesday and will be submitted to the American Federation next month.

If the cropland adjustment program is approved at the national meeting Dec. 10-14 in Chicago, American Federation spokesmen will go to Washington to push the plan on behalf of their 1½ million members.

The Ohio plan involves:

1. A general crop acreage reduction program.
2. Price supports held at levels essentially the same as in 1961 except for wheat for feed uses.
3. Voluntary land retirement on whole farms on a bid basis.
4. Rural area development and farm labor readjustment.

The acreage reduction calls for required retirement each year of a certain percentage of total farmed acres and payment for retired land at 35 per cent of the value of normal crop. The secretary of agriculture would prescribe the percentage of drop acreages to be retired.

It was explained that the reduction and price support points are Niagara Cave, near Cresco, Iowa, features a 60-foot waterfall 200 feet underground.

general and temporary.

The third and fourth points were described as long-range and are aimed at pushing down farm output and giving assistance to low income farmers and low income rural areas.

The Ohio Federation also listed some of what it calls "expected impacts" during the next five years should its cropland adjustment program come to pass.

Included were:

- Reduction of cash government outlays for agricultural programs by $700 million to $1.2 billion per year, with further lowering of costs as surplus stocks are eliminated.
- Maintaining average net farm incomes at essentially the 1961 level.
- Maintaining present farm price of feeds and oil seeds.
- Providing for orderly reduction in surplus stocks of farm products in government storage.
- Facilitating adjustment of labor on low income farms.
- Providing a maximum of individual freedom to farm operators in directing their own operations.

After five years, the federation predicts, there would develop a gradual increase in farm incomes and return of idled acres to some type of production.

The 43rd annual state meeting ends today with the election of officers.

Role of Adios Pinpointed in Richest Pace

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP)—Harnes racing's richest race — the $145,377 Messenger Stakes at Roosevelt Raceway Friday night — pinpoints the role of the stallion, Adios, in the standardbred sport.

The 22-year-old stallion, who stands at Del Miller's Meadowlands Farm near Washington, Pa., could well be called the Man O'War of harness racing. "Big Red," as Man O'War was known in thoroughbred racing, sired many winners yearly during the more than 20 years he held court in Kentucky.

Adios, too, has sired many winners and it is estimated that his get have won $10 million during the last 10 years.

Five of the nine 3-year-old pacers in the Messenger were sired by Adios—Henry T. Adios, Adios-and, Hogan Hanover, Land Hanover and Adios Don. In addition, two of the remaining four, Tartport Jimmy and Yankee Express, are grandsons.

Browns Tag Eagles Test As 'Must'

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns are not indulging in pipe dreams as they prepare to meet the Philadelphia Eagles in a must game here Sunday.

The Browns are well aware that the Eagles—tied with the New York Giants for the top spot in the National Football League — lead the league in yardage gained via passes.

But neither are they awed by the Eagles' vaunted passing attack, and they can look to the statistics of the season opener which they lost to the Eagles, 27-20, for encouragement.

Philadelphia quarterback Sonny Jurgensen completed 11 of 17 passes for 183 yards and two touchdowns in that game while Milt Plum made good 18 of 30 aerials for 329 yards and a pair of touchdowns.

Coach Paul Brown has said that game was Cleveland's best this year, and had it not been for a 105-yard kickoff return by Philadelphia's Tim Brown, the outcome might have been different.

Two men who could be the decisive factor in Sunday's clash are field goal kicking experts Lou Groza of the Browns and the Eagles' Bobby Walston, both of whom are making a good run at Don Hutson's all-time NFL scoring record of 825 points.

LE Boosters Plan Banquet, Approve Election Plan

Members of the Logan Elm Boosters Club approved a change in the club constitution and announced plans for a banquet honoring the school's football team during a meeting Monday in the school music rooms.

A short concert by the high school chorus under the direction of Jerry Hanes preceded a business meeting.

Effective this year, the election of officers for a coming school term will be held the last meeting of the school year. In the past officers had not been chosen until the opening session of a new year.

A football banquet under the sponsorship of the booster group will be held at 6:30 p. m. Saturday in the high school cafeteria. Plans for a program have not yet been completed.

Ohio Hunting Season Opens Very Quietly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—With the Ohio hunting season just a day old, it's too early to say what the general success picture is like—but Wildlife Division officials thought it might have been one of the most quiet opening days on record.

By late afternoon on the opening day, division headquarters had not received a single telephone call relating any of the day's happenings—or complaints.

Field men are making a survey to determine what luck Ohioans had in seeking out the pheasants and rabbits.

Ohio grouse hunters have had varied success during the month the season has been open, the Wildlife Division reports. The best was reported from Southeastern Ohio by Al Cannon, District 4 game management supervisor. He said grouse hunting had been good with fair numbers of birds being seen and bagged.

Low fur prices are in prospect for Ohio trappers now that the season has opened. Muskrats are slated to start at 65 cents for large pelts; coons should bring $1.50, possums 50 cents, skunks 50 cents, weasels 75 cents, red fox $1 and gray fox 50 cents. Top price for big minks will be $8, according to John Freshwater, fur buyer of near Columbus. He says mink skins must be measured, because it takes a skin 10½ by 3 inches to qualify for that price.

SVC Members Eye Expansion For New Loop

The Scioto Valley Conference will come into being tonight as the area's newest high school athletic league, and the four charter members are already being asked to consider expansion plans.

The SVC launching is slated for 8 p. m. with a dinner meeting at Tink's Tavern, north of Circleville on old Route 23. The way for official formation of the loop was cleared when school boards of the original members institutions gave their blessing to affiliation with the SVC.

Logan Elm, Laurelville, Paint Valley and Piketon high schools are the four schools who banded together about three weeks ago after extensive negotiations to announce formation of the conference. A request for admission to the SVC has been made by representatives of Union High School in Ross County.

To be installed as the first executives of the Scioto Valley Conference are David D. Way, Pike-ton assistant executive head, president; John Henn, Logan Elm principal, vice president; and Dan Klips, Paint Valley head coach, secretary-treasurer.

Tonight officials plan to discuss some general operational problems confronting the new league, and being preparations for the first inter-loop competition — the 1962 football season.

Tony Kubek and Bobby Richardson led the Yankees in sacrifice bunts last season, each getting 10. Pitcher Jim Coates was third with nine.

LSU Has Hopes Of Bowl Bid

Mississippi State Is in Bengal Path

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—With bowl atmosphere hanging heavy over Baton Rouge like Dixie dew, Louisiana State's Bayou Bengals stalk Mississippi State Saturday night for a victory that may pave the road to the Rose Bowl.

With LSU turning down a bid to the New Orleans Sugar Bowl earlier this week and conjecture that the Tigers may head west for a New Year's Day showing, the game with Mississippi State has almost been lost in the shuffle—almost.

LSU, gunning for its eighth straight triumph after a season-opening loss to Rice, figures as a three-touchdown favorite.

These are the weapons state must face: Bengal halfback Jerry Stovall, looking more and more like an All America, leads the Tigers in rushing with 333 yards, has received nine passes for 135 yards and has a 38.2-yard punting average.

The passing of quarterbacks Lynn Amedee and Jimmy Field, who have completed 42 of 89 tosses for 594 yards.

Halfback Wendell Harris, the top scorer in the SEC, who seems to be approaching the peak once predicted for him.

And a savage line anchored by All America guard candidate Roy Winston.

Mississippi State—now 5-3 for the season—offers the running of fullback Mackie Weaver—298 yards on 89 attempts—and the passing of Billy Hill, John Corero and Charlie Furlow. The three have completed 69 of 120 passes for 776 yards.

Bucks Dominate Big 10 Offense

CHICAGO (AP)—All-America fullback Bob Ferguson of Ohio State and the Buckeyes as a team continue to dominate the Big Ten on offense.

According to conference statistics released today, Ferguson is the top man in rushing with 519 yards in 99 carries for a 5.2 yard per carry average.

The Buckeyes lead the loop in net yards gained (343.4), rushing (272.8) and yards a play (4.9).

Michigan State fullback George Saines of Canton, Ohio, is third in conference rushing with 252 yards on 52 carries for a 4.8 average.

Ex-Champion Hawks Slip Still Farther

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The St. Louis Hawks, five times Western Division champions of the National Basketball Association, slipped into fourth place of the five-team Western Division Wednesday night, bowing to Detroit 127-122.

It was the Hawks' fifth loss in six games. They now stand 5-9 for the season.

Coach Paul Seymour created a stir before the game when he announced the whole team was on the trading block.

"I'm here to trade," he said in Detroit. "I'm not talking about my 10th man. I'd trade any of our top players. They tell me I've got three of the best players in the world. Well, I'm ready."

That position, however, was quickly reversed by owner Ben Kerner in St. Louis. "No Hawk players are on the market until they are put there by this office," he said.

The Detroit victory moved it past St. Louis into third place. In the other games, Philadelphia snapped Cincinnati's six-game winning string 145-133, Syracuse dumped New York into the Eastern Division cellar 114-102 and Los Angeles defeated Chicago 133-118.

Booster Club Eyes Facilities For Athletics

A committee of Circleville Booster Club officers and directors has been named to make further study of plans relating to new athletic facilities at the Nicholas Drive school area.

For several months the Booster Club has been formulating plans for a new football stadium and baseball and track facilities at the site where the new elementary school is now being constructed. Preliminary drawings of a proposed new stadium have been completed.

Various means of financing the project are under study. Additional information is due for presentation at future Booster meetings.

Named to the committee are Gene Hanson, chairman, Don Hannan, John Fissell, Robert Huffer, Clark Martin, John Jenkins, Ned Young, Forrest Thomerson, Paul Smallwood, Charles Hart, David Crawford and Dick Tootle.

In a meeting here Tuesday night, club members discussed at length the poor and improper facilities now available to Circleville High School athletes. Points aired included the inadequate football field, no track suitable for competitive meets and the lack of a high school baseball field.

Weather Clears For Cajun Classic

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP)—The weatherman boosted spirits today as the $15,000 'Cajun Classic' golf tournament teed off following nearly a week of heavy rains.

Almost two inches fell on the rolling Oakbourne Country Club course Wednesday, but two promising youngsters—Mason Rudolph of Clarksville, Tenn., and Jackie Cupit of Longview, Tex.—blasted through the water with four-under-par 67s in the pro-am event.

The sizzling 67s by Cupit and Rudolph served notice that favorites Jay and Lionel Hebert, natives of Louisiana, and staccato-swinging Doug Sanders have their work cut out on the 6,534-yard course.

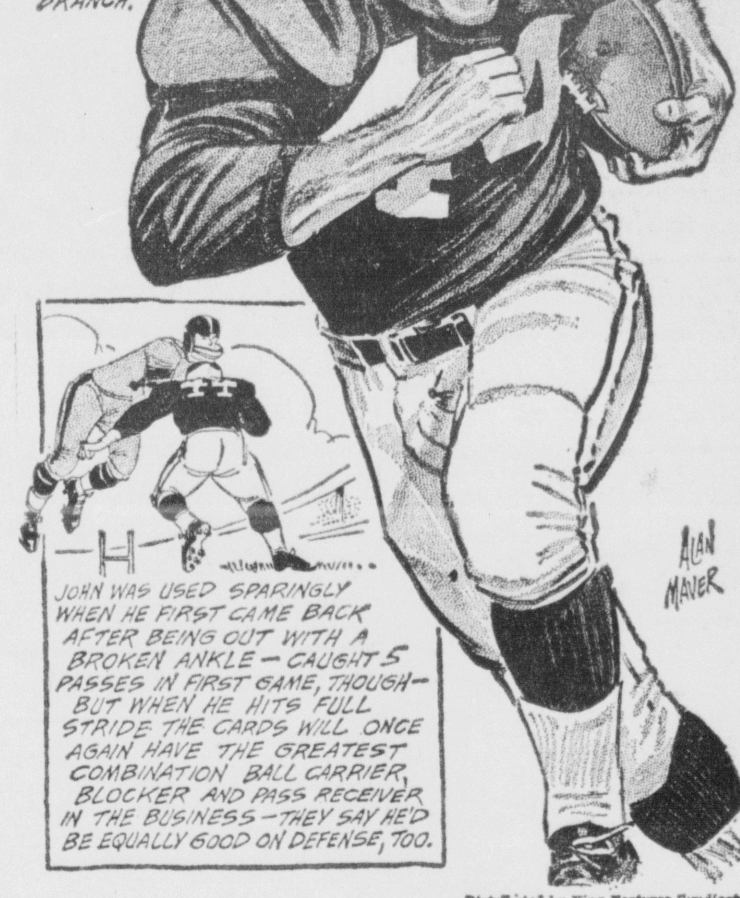

Lionel Hebert won the tourney last year, while Jay took the crown in 1958.

Mathis Seeks Ball-Carrying Lead in Loop

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Billy Mathis, who had to build himself up so he could play fullback for the New York Titans, is in hot pursuit of the ball-carrying championship of the American Football League.

Mathis gained 127 yards last week as he led New York to a 23-12 victory over Oakland and that shoved him within 130 yards of the AFL leader, Paul Lowe of San Diego, who has played in one more game.

Mathis has gained 540 yards on 125 carries compared to Lowe's 670 in 143. He is 70 yards ahead of third-place Billy Cannon of Houston.

George Blanda of Houston retained his lead among the passers. Blanda has completed 96 throws out of 205 for 1715 yards. Butch Songin of Boston is second with 84 of 176 for 1224 yards.

Lionel Taylor of Denver snagged 10 passes against San Diego last week to maintain a long lead in receiving. He has caught 77 for 999 yards. Art Powell of New York is second with 54 for 667 yards.

Gino Capelletti of Boston added three points to make his scoring total 113—35 points better than second-place Bill Groman of Houston.

Bill Atkins of Boston leads the punters with a 45.9 yards average. Dick Christy of New York the punt returners with an average of 27.2. Larry Garron of Boston the kickoff returners with an average of 28.2 and Charles Neil of San Diego has intercepted the most passes—eight.

to the 1962 American League season as a challenge to keep on doing his "very best to help the Yankees to another pennant."

The reticent slugger, who socked 61 home runs last season, again edged out Yankee teammate Mickey Mantle for the award in voting by 20 members of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Maris received 202 points to Mantle's 198. A year ago he beat Mantle by only three points.

Jim Gentile, Baltimore's first baseman, was third in the poll with 157 points. Norm Cash, Detroit first baseman, was fourth with 151 points and Yankee pitcher Whitey Ford fifth with 109.

Based on a count of 14 points for first place, 9 for second, 8 for third down to one for 10th, Luis Arroyo, New York's great relief pitcher, received 95 points for sixth place. Frank Lary, Detroit pitcher, with 53 points; Rocky Colavito, Detroit outfielder, 51; Al Kaline, Detroit outfielder, 35, and New York catcher Flston Howard, 30, rounded out the top 10.

Speaking for his family—wife Patricia and four young children—Maris said: "I'm real happy. All of us are happy. I was hoping all along I would win it but I wasn't sure until I got the official call."

Busy with details of building a new home "in the greater Kansas City area," Maris said he is dedicated toward "helping the Yanks win the pennant again next season."

Hall of Fame first basemen Bill Terry batted .341 for 1,721 games and George Sisler hit .340 for 2,055 games.

Mathis Seeks Ball-Carrying Lead in Loop

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Billy Mathis, who had to build himself up so he could play fullback for the New York Titans, is in hot pursuit of the ball-carrying championship of the American Football League.

Mathis gained 127 yards last week as he led New York to a 23-12 victory over Oakland and that shoved him within 130 yards of the AFL leader, Paul Lowe of San Diego, who has played in one more game.

Mathis has gained 540 yards on 125 carries compared to Lowe's 670 in 143. He is 70 yards ahead of third-place Billy Cannon of Houston.

George Blanda of Houston retained his lead among the passers. Blanda has completed 96 throws out of 205 for 1715 yards. Butch Songin of Boston is second with 84 of 176 for 1224 yards.

Lionel Taylor of Denver snagged 10 passes against San Diego last week to maintain a long lead in receiving. He has caught 77 for 999 yards. Art Powell of New York is second with 54 for 667 yards.

Gino Capelletti of Boston added three points to make his scoring total 113—35 points better than second-place Bill Groman of Houston.

Bill Atkins of Boston leads the punters with a 45.9 yards average. Dick Christy of New York the punt returners with an average of 27.2. Larry Garrison of Boston the kickoff returners with an average of 28.2 and Charles Neil of San Diego has intercepted the most passes—eight.

to the 1962 American League season as a challenge to keep on doing his "very best to help the Yankees to another pennant."

The reticent slugger, who socked 61 home runs last season, again edged out Yankee teammate Mickey Mantle for the award in voting by 20 members of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Maris received 202 points to Mantle's 198. A year ago he beat Mantle by only three points. Jim Gentile, Baltimore's first baseman, was third in the poll with 157 points. Norm Cash, Detroit first baseman, was fourth with 151 points and Yankee pitcher Whitey Ford fifth with 109.

Based on a count of 14 points for first place, 9 for second, 8 for third down to one for 10th, Luis Arroyo, New York's great relief pitcher, received 95 points for sixth place. Frank Lary, Detroit pitcher, with 53 points; Rocky Colavito, Detroit outfielder, 51; Al Kaline, Detroit outfielder, 35, and New York catcher Elston Howard, 30, rounded out the top 10.

Speaking for his family—wife Patricia and four young children—Maris said: "I'm real happy. All of us are happy. I was hoping all along I would win it but I wasn't sure until I got the official call."

Busy with details of building a new home "in the greater Kansas City area," Maris said he is dedicated toward "helping the Yanks win the pennant again next season."

Hall of Fame first basemen Bill Terry batted .341 for 1,721 games and George Sisler hit .340 for 2,055 games.

Jackson PTS Meets Monday

The Jackson - Muhlenberg Parent-Teacher Society met Monday evening in the Jackson Twp. School with Mrs. George Neff presiding in the absence of Mrs. Jean Justus, president.

Health-Giving Gadget Banned In U.S. Court

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A Sandusky firm agreed in U.S. District Court Tuesday to condemnation of an alleged health - giving device which the government claimed was misbranded.

The consent decree, signed by Judge Frank L. Kloeb, was negotiated by assistant U.S. Atty. John G. Mattino and New Life, Inc. of Sandusky.

Judge Kloeb held that the device known as "Renulife Violet Ray Generator" and leaflets describing the machine were in conflict with the Food Drug and Cosmetic Act. Among claims made for the device were that it provided adequate and effective treatment for almost a dozen ailments including arthritis, bursitis, eczema, rheumatism, acne, poor circulation and nervous conditions.

The Sandusky firm said it obtained the device from Renulife Electric Co. of Ferndale, Mich.

The court ordered the device and leaflets turned over to federal authorities in Detroit.

Boy, 17, Leads Terror Raid On Own Home

READING, Mass. (AP)—A terror-stricken mother and her 11-year-old son were held at gunpoint in a bedroom of their home yesterday while an older son and two companions ransacked the small apartment, police reported. The trio fled with $105, police said.

Police quoted Mrs. Ralph Chapman, 42, as saying she had opened the door of her apartment to her son, Ralph, 17, shortly before 2 a.m. As she opened it, police said, Ralph and his two associates burst into the apartment waving snub-nosed pistols.

Investigators said the trio ordered David Chapman to his room where he was guarded by a youth later identified by police as James F. Scruto, 18, of Stoneham.

Despite sobbing pleas of his mother, police said Ralph and a third youth identified by authorities as Ronald Kehoe, 18, of Malden, went through the 3-room apartment in search of money.

The youths were captured shortly afterward and booked on charges of armed robbery.

Following a brief business meeting, a program was given under the direction of Mrs. Clark Maughmer.

The program was opened with a tap dance number by Janelle Thompson, followed by an accordion solo by Terry Neff. A short skit was presented by Clark Maughmer, Dwight Whaley, Ronnie Skaggs and Ronnie Clifton.

A vocal solo by Carroll Reed concluded the program.

A parent - teacher conference closed the meeting.

Schools Urged To Control All Pupil Activity

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A panel of educators and laymen indicated to the Ohio School Board Association convention here that it is in favor of extra-curricular activities but is against their control leaving the hands of the schools themselves.

The panel inferred, however, that extra - curricular activity is over - emphasized in some Ohio schools.

"There is too much exploitation of students going on through their activities in forensic clubs, speech contests, sports and band trips," Ralph S. Regula, a state board of education member from Navarre, said. "They (the students) aren't able to keep their sights on basic education."

"What is needed is permissive legislation so school boards can use money to finance extra-curricular activities, such as buying football uniforms, so they can wield more control over them," Hugh D. Laughlin, an education professor at Ohio State University, said.

An attorney general's opinion, which has never had a court test, stated that school boards cannot spend money on such items as band and football uniforms.

"Right now, these activities are growing out of proportion in many districts, and organizations (such as boosters' clubs) are taking more and more control because they are financing these programs," Laughlin declared.

Too Much Bump

MIAMI (AP) — Automobiles were traveling too fast around the University of Miami campus, so the engineering department built a series of asphalt bumps at strategic locations.

Recently, they trimmed the bumps. Not only did student drivers complain of bumped heads and bent frames, but sports car owners said they had trouble getting over the bumps.

The Pentagon, headquarters of the Defense Department in Arlington Va., has 3,686,896 square feet of floor space on five floors.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

An early winter storm located over Illinois was responsible for widespread rain over Ohio this morning. The rain was locally heavy over the west and south-west counties.

The warm rains caused unseasonably mild temperatures over the state. Early this morning readings ranged from 48 at Toledo and Youngstown to 64 at Cincinnati and 62 at Chesapeake. Columbus had 57 and Cleveland 53.

The storm over Illinois will move rapidly northeastward, pulling much colder Canadian air over Ohio during the next 24 hours.

The general rains will end over the state by this evening, and snow flurries are expected to accompany the change to colder tonight and Friday.

Temperatures are forecast to fall from the 60s this afternoon to the upper 20s or low 30s by Friday morning. Winds will increase to 20 to 30 miles per hour over the state today coming from the southwest this morning and gradually becoming west to northwest by tonight.

The period mid-November to mid-December calls for temperatures to average below seasonal normals in the area from the middle and lower Mississippi Valley westward to the Great Basin with greatest departures in the Southern Plains. Above normal temperatures are predicted for the Atlantic Coast states and extreme Northern Plains. In unspecified areas near normal averages are indicated.

"This temperature pattern favors considerable storminess and heavy precipitation in most of the eastern half of the nation and also the Southern Plains. Much of this precipitation should occur as snow in a broad band from the Southwest to the Great Lakes. Light precipitation is in prospect for the Far West and extreme Northern Plains."

Manslaughter Charged In Bartender's Death

CLEVELAND (AP) — Gary N. Porter, 22, of Mayfield Village, has been charged with first-degree manslaughter in the shooting of John Bazanski, a part-time bartender in Chagrin Falls.

Bazanski, 28, was killed Monday when a wild shot from a revolver went through a plate glass window at the tavern and hit him in the heart.

The motto "In God We Trust" first appeared on United States coins after April 22, 1864. It became the national motto on July 30, 1856.

Anti-Obscene Ruling Slated For Appeal

CINCINNATI (AP) — County Prosecutor C. Watson Hoyer says he will appeal a common pleas court ruling that a section of Ohio law on obscene literature is unconstitutional.

Judge Frank Gusweiler Wednesday threw out an indictment against newsstand operator David King, 53, after it was attacked by defense attorneys.

King was charged with possessing obscene literature after police took 140 books from his news shop in a raid March 15, 1960.

The charge was pinned specifically to a book called "The Bohemian Set."

Judge Gusweiler noted that four of the seven Ohio Supreme Court judges, along with two justices of the U.S. Supreme Court, have ruled the section under which King was charged was not constitutional.

He said it appeared only a requirement of six votes kept the Ohio high court from throwing out the law in earlier study.

King also faces grand jury study of a similar charge stemming from a police raid last Oct. 10.

Tribunal To Ponder Norwalk Death Case

NORWALK, Ohio (AP)—A panel of three common pleas court judges will decide the fate of Kenneth Boggs, 31, of North Fairfield, charged with first - degree estranged wife, Virginia, 32, Oct. 13. The stabbing occurred in an apartment where Mrs. Boggs was visiting a friend across the street from police headquarters here.

Alaska's famed "Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes" was formed in 1912 following the eruption of the volcano Nova Rupta.

Piqua GOP Congressman Fails To Rule Self Out as Judge

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. William M. McCulloch of Piqua, Ohio mentioned as one of the Republicans President Kennedy may be planning to appoint to federal judgeships—says, "I have never been an applicant and am not now."

McCulloch, however, did not completely rule himself out of such speculation. "There are not many lawyers who would not take a judgeship" if offered, he said in an interview.

There have been published reports that the representative from the 4th Ohio congressional district was considered for a judgeship in the southern district of Ohio but he would not comment on whether the administration had made a direct approach to him on the matter.

But he mentioned that top Republicans had cleared him for a judgeship when a vacancy occurred during the first administration of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. He said "that would have been the time to take it" if he were interested in the federal bench.

Actually, McCulloch said, there is no present or expected vacancy in Southern Ohio, but there could be if Congress changes a provision in the law that created 73 new federal judgeships.

The law created one new judgeship in the Southern Ohio district, for which John W. Peck has been nominated and awaits Senate confirmation. But the same law provided that the first vacancy in the district shall not be filled.

The idea was to provide a fourth judge for the district temporarily to help reduce the current backlog of cases, but one of the other three judges soon afterward expressed the wish to retire.

That would reduce the district to three judges again, nullifying the effect of the new judgeship with no way to add a fourth judge under the law.

The judge who wants to retire reportedly has been persuaded to withhold his resignation until Congress can consider legislation to change the law. The early resignation, so soon after a fourth judge was added, had been unforeseen when the provision for not filling the next vacancy was written into the law.

If Congress passes legislation next year to provide for another judge after the resignation is accepted, then there would be a vacancy which McCulloch could be offered.

The administration was reportedly pleased with McCulloch's support for its anti-crime legislation passed in the last session, and also his support of attempts to increase salaries for Justice Department attorneys—which failed.

But he mentioned that top Republicans had cleared him for a judgeship when a vacancy occurred during the first administration of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. He said "that would have been the time to take it" if he were interested in the federal bench.

Actually, McCulloch said, there is no present or expected vacancy in Southern Ohio, but there could be if Congress changes a provision in the law that created 73 new federal judgeships.

The law created one new judgeship in the Southern Ohio district, for which John W. Peck has been nominated and awaits Senate confirmation. But the same law provided that the first vacancy in the district shall not be filled.

The idea was to provide a fourth judge for the district temporarily to help reduce the current backlog of cases, but one of the other three judges soon afterward expressed the wish to retire.

That would reduce the district to three judges again, nullifying the effect of the new judgeship with no way to add a fourth judge under the law.

The judge who wants to retire reportedly has been persuaded to withhold his resignation until Congress can consider legislation to change the law. Health-Giving Gadget Banned In U.S. Court

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A Sandusky firm agreed in U.S. District Court Tuesday to condemnation of an alleged health - giving device which the government claimed was misbranded.

The consent decree, signed by Judge Frank L. Klob, was negotiated by assistant U.S. Atty. John G. Mattimo and New Life, Inc. of Sandusky.

Judge Klob held that the device known as "Renulife Violet Ray Generator" and leaflets describing the machine were in conflict with the Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act. Among claims made for the device were that it provided adequate and effective treatment for almost a dozen ailments including arthritis, bursitis, eczema, rheumatism, acne, poor circulation and nervous conditions.

The Sandusky firm said it obtained the device from Renulife Electric Co. of Ferndale, Mich.

The court ordered the device and leaflets turned over to federal authorities in Detroit.

Boy, 17, Leads Terror Raid On Own Home

READING, Mass. (AP)—A terror-stricken mother and her 11-year-old son were held at gunpoint in a bedroom of their home yesterday while an older son and two companions ransacked the small apartment, police reported.

The trio fled with $105, police said.

Police quoted Mrs. Ralph Chapman, 42, as saying she had opened the door of her apartment to her son, Ralph, 17, shortly before 2 a.m. As she opened it, police said, Ralph and his two associates burst into the apartment waving snub-nosed pistols.

Investigators said the trio ordered David Chapman to his room where he was guarded by a youth later identified by police as James F. Scruto, 18, of Stoneham.

Despite sobbing pleas of his mother, police said Ralph and a third youth identified by authorities as Ronald Kehoe, 18, of Malden, went through the 3-room apartment in search of money.

The youths were captured shortly afterward and booked on charges of armed robbery.

Following a brief business meeting, a program was given under the direction of Mrs. Clark Maugher.

The program was opened with a tap dance number by Janelle Thompson, followed by an accordion solo by Terry Neff. A short skit was presented by Clark Maugher, Dwight Whaley, Ronnie Skaggs and Ronnie Clifton.

A vocal solo by Carroll Reed concluded the program.

A parent - teacher conference closed the meeting.

Schools Urged To Control All Pupil Activity

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A panel of educators and laymen indicated to the Ohio School Board Association convention here that it is in favor of extra-curricular activities but is against their control leaving the hands of the schools themselves.

The panel inferred, however, that extra - curricular activity is over - emphasized in some Ohio schools.

"There is too much exploitation of students going on through their activities in forensics clubs, speech contests, sports and band trips," Ralph S. Regula, a state board of education member from Navarre, said. "They (the students) aren't able to keep their sights on basic education."

"What is needed is permissive legislation so school boards can use money to finance extra-curricular activities, such as buying football uniforms, so they can yield more control over them," Hugh D. Laughlin, an education professor at Ohio State University, said.

An attorney general's opinion, which has never had a court test, stated that school boards cannot spend money on such items as band and football uniforms.

"Right now, these activities are growing out of proportion in many districts, and organizations (such as boosters' clubs) are taking more and more control because they are financing these programs," Laughlin declared.

Too Much Bump
MIAMI (AP) — Automobiles were traveling too fast around the University of Miami campus, so the engineering department built a series of asphalt bumps at strategic locations.

Recently, they trimmed the bumps. Not only did student drivers complain of bumped heads and bent frames, but sports car owners said they had trouble getting over the bumps.

The Pentagon, headquarters of the Defense Department in Arlington Va., has 3,686,896 square feet of floor space on five floors.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

An early winter storm located over Illinois was responsible for widespread rain over Ohio this morning. The rain was locally heavy over the west and southwest counties.

The warm rains caused unusually mild temperatures over the state. Early this morning readings ranged from 48 at Toledo and Youngstown to 64 at Cincinnati and 62 at Chesapeake. Columbus had 57 and Cleveland 53.

The storm over Illinois will move rapidly northeastward, pulling much colder Canadian air over Ohio during the next 24 hours.

The general rains will end over the state by this evening, and snow flurries are expected to accompany the change to colder tonight and Friday.

Temperatures are forecast to fall from the 60s this afternoon to the upper 20s or low 30s by Friday morning. Winds will increase to 20 to 30 miles per hour over the state today coming from the southwest this morning and gradually becoming west to north-west by tonight.

The period mid-November to mid-December calls for temperatures to average below seasonal normals in the area from the middle and lower Mississippi Valley westward to the Great Basin with greatest departures in the Southern Plains. Above normal temperatures are predicted for the Atlantic Coast states and extreme Northern Plains. In unspecified areas near normal averages are indicated.

"This temperature pattern favors considerable storminess and heavy precipitation in most of the eastern half of the nation and also the Southern Plains. Much of this precipitation should occur as snow in a broad band from the Southwest to the Great Lakes. Light precipitation is in prospect for the Far West and extreme Northern Plains."

Manslaughter Charged In Bartender's Death

CLEVELAND (AP) — Gary N. Porter, 22, of Mayfield Village, has been charged with first-degree manslaughter in the shooting of John Bazanski, a part-time bartender in Chagrin Falls.

Bazanski, 28, was killed Monday when a wild shot from a revolver went through a plate glass window at the tavern and hit him in the heart.

The motto "In God We Trust" first appeared on United States coins after April 22, 1864. It became the national motto on July 30, 1856.

Anti-Obscene Ruling Slated For Appeal

CINCINNATI (AP) — County Prosecutor C. Watson Hover says he will appeal a common pleas court ruling that a section of Ohio law on obscene literature is unconstitutional.

Judge Frank Gusweiler Wednesday threw out an indictment against newsstand operator David King, 53, after it was attacked by defense attorneys.

King was charged with possessing obscene literature after police took 140 books from his news shop in a raid March 15, 1960.

The charge was pinned specifically to a book called "The Bohemian Set."

Judge Gusweiler noted that four of the seven Ohio Supreme Court judges, along with two justices of the U.S. Supreme Court, have ruled the section under which King was charged was not constitutional.

He said it appeared only a requirement of six votes kept the Ohio high court from throwing out the law in earlier study.

King also faces grand jury study of a similar charge stemming from a police raid last Oct. 10.

Tribunal To Ponder Norwalk Death Case

NORWALK, Ohio (AP)—A panel of three common pleas court judges will decide the fate of Kenneth Boggs, 31, of North Fairfield, charged with first - degree estranged wife, Virginia, 32, Oct. 13. The stabbing occurred in an apartment where Mrs. Boggs was visiting a friend across the street from police headquarters here.

Piqua GOP Congressman Fails To Rule Self Out as Judge

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. William M. McCulloch of Piqua Ohio mentioned as one of the Republicans President Kennedy may be planning to appoint to federal judgeships—says, "I have never been an applicant and am not now."

McCulloch, however, did not completely rule himself out of such speculation. "There are not many lawyers who would not take a judgeship" if offered, he said in an interview.

There have been published reports that the representative from the 4th Ohio congressional district was considered for a judgeship in the southern district of Ohio but he would not comment on whether the administration had made a direct approach to him on the matter.

But he mentioned that top Republicans had cleared him for a judgeship when a vacancy occurred during the first administration of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. He said "that would have been the time to take it" if he were interested in the federal bench.

Actually, McCulloch said, there is no present or expected vacancy in Southern Ohio, but there could be if Congress changes a provision in the law that created 73 new federal judgeships.

The law created one new judgeship in the Southern Ohio district, for which John W. Peck has been nominated and awaits Senate confirmation. But the same law provided that the first vacancy in the district shall not be filled.

The idea was to provide a fourth judge for the district temporarily to help reduce the current backlog of cases, but one of the other three judges soon afterward expressed the wish to retire.

That would reduce the district to three judges again, nullifying the effect of the new judgeship with no way to add a fourth judge under the law.

The judge who wants to retire reportedly has been persuaded to withhold his resignation until Congress can consider legislation to change the law. The early resignation, so soon after a fourth judge was added, had been unforeseen when the provision for not filling the next vacancy was written into the law.

If Congress passes legislation next year to provide for another judge after the resignation is accepted, then there would be a vacancy which McCulloch could be offered.

The administration was reportedly pleased with McCulloch's support for its anti-crime legislation passed in the last session, and also his support of attempts to increase salaries for Justice Department attorneys—which failed.
